A Wonderful Way

Each year another edition of "Memories" is produced for the enjoyment of the students and for the preservation of last year's activities. This year, there was a great turn out of students expressing their interest in working on the staff. The editor of this year's "Memories" is Mary Faith Feeney. Assisting her as section editors are: Tamara Davis (sports-editor), David Logan (photography-editor), Stephanie Bissey (business-editor), Melanie Rowe and Lori Wright (homecoming editors), and Martha Feeney (classes editor).

Each member must be saluted for his support and hard work of a project this large. Although many times students worked after school to finish their pages, this year's yearbook staff worked together smoothly and had all assigned pages finished by the deadlines.

We would like to thank Mr. Curt Stratman for all his patient expertise and assistance.

Mary Faith Feeney (editor)

Mary Feeney, editor, must know something amusing that the photographer doesn't know, as she looks up from reading a yearbook.

Tamara Davis, sports editor, carefully decides which pictures will look the best for the football section.

Stephanie Bissey, this year's business manager, looks confused by the many different ads she has.

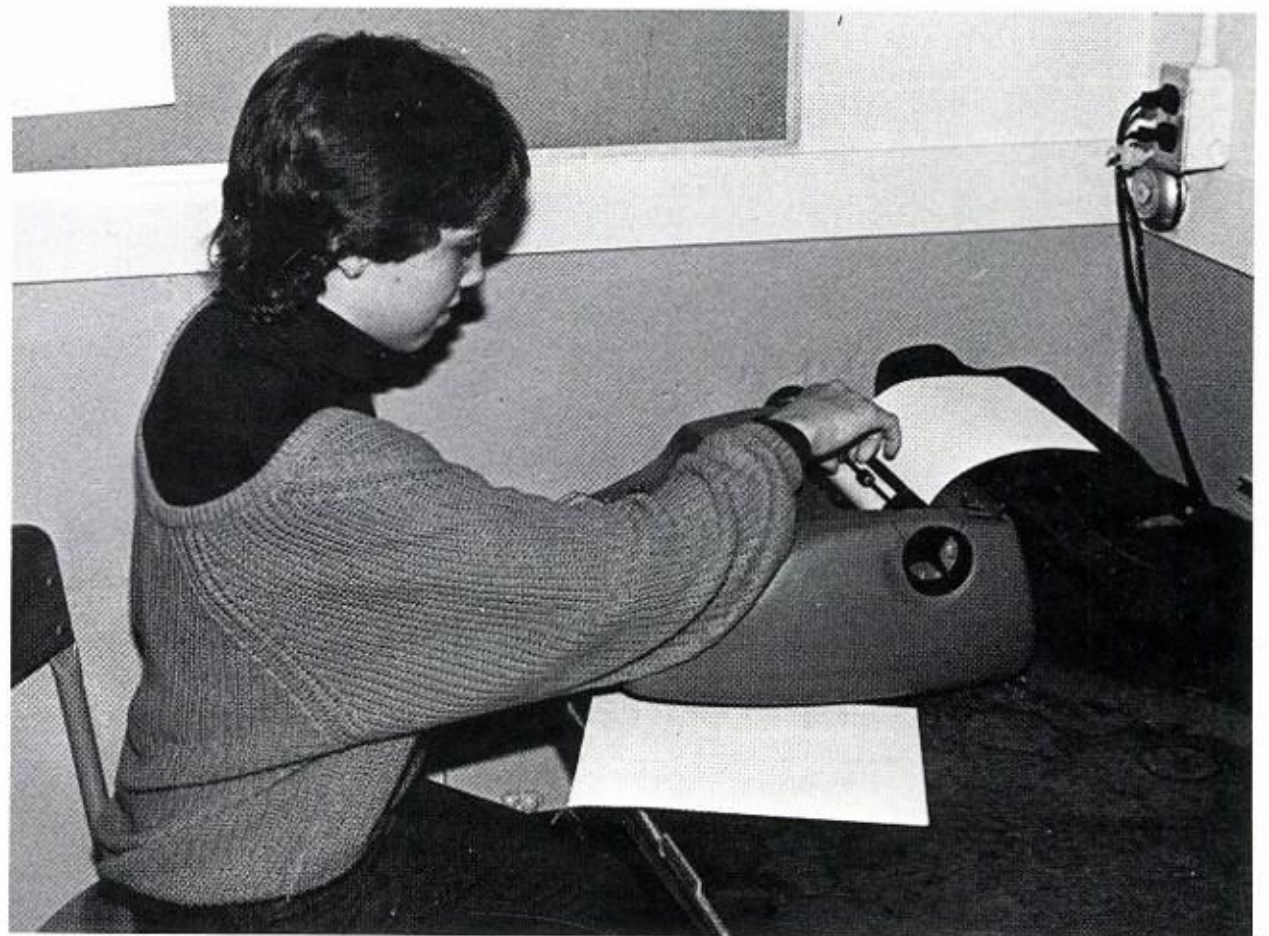

With Words

Lori Wright and Melanie Rowe enjoy looking at old yearbooks for layout ideas and laughs on their spare time.

Martha Feeney, classes editor, hurries to finish her typing for the first deadline.

Jobs:

An Experience for the Future

Many students work after school and on weekends. It's a great experience to work while being a full time student, and a job can help you mature in areas such as learning to manage your time and financial responsibility.

Money, which can come in handy, is certainly a necessity, but trying to hold a job and still keep up on your studies, not to mention a few social activities, can certainly put a bind on anyone's calendar.

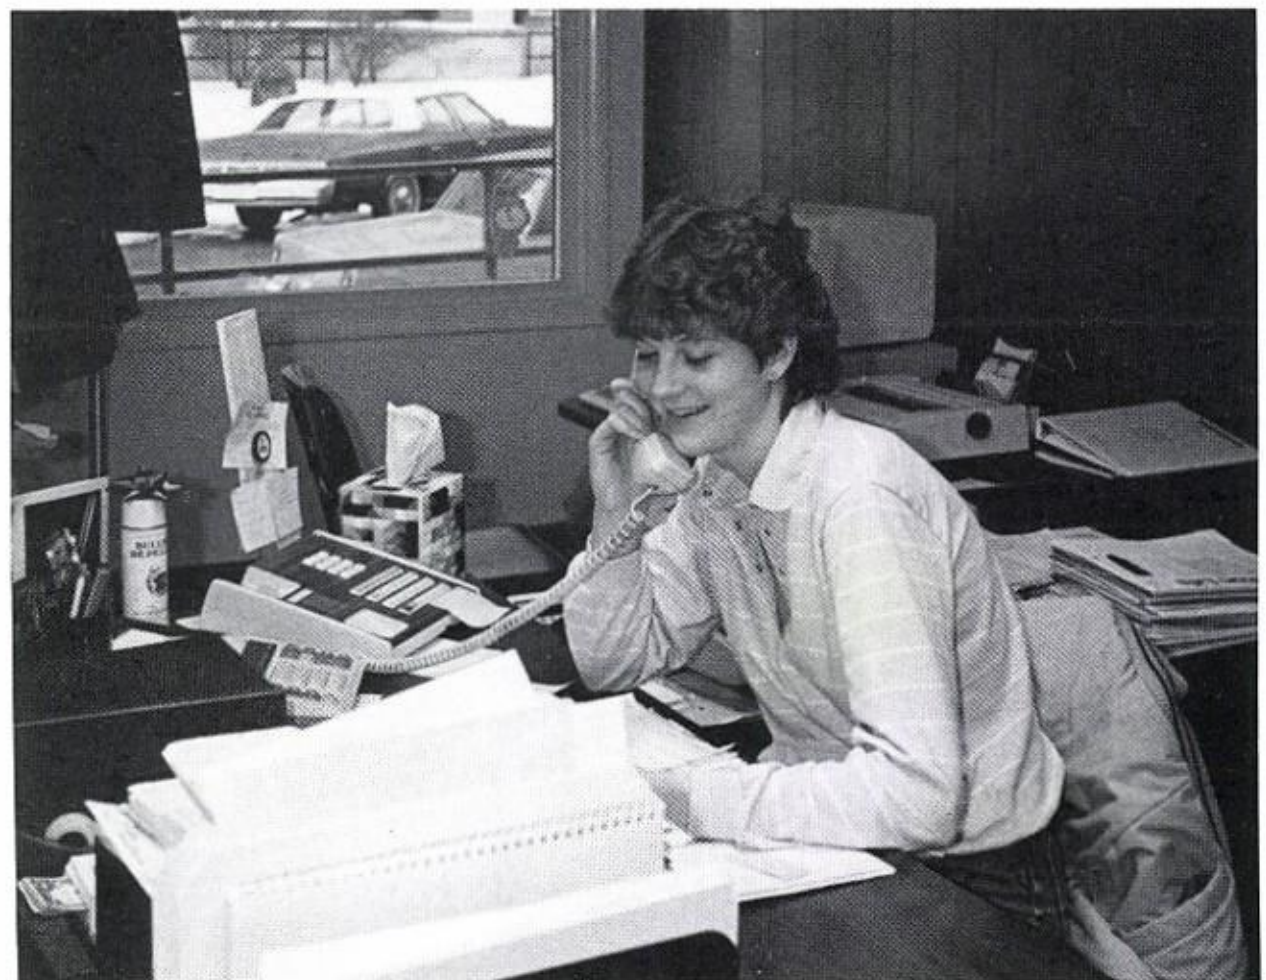

Still, a job can be worthwhile and rewarding and these students seem to be getting along very well.

Leslie Glickman stirs up some kind of brew at the BROWN BAG in preparation for a busy lunch schedule.

Waiting on customers can be enjoyable. Deanna Voorhees shows us that she's having a good time at HANCOCK'S RESTAURANT.

Working at CF&H, Amanda Felts learns how to listen to people in her office and talk on the telephone at the same time.

Pam Chitwood is never too busy to smile. She works at THE CANDLEWICK INN in her spare time.

Lisa Miner cuddles with those loveable bears in KAISER'S DEPARTMENT STORE basement.

Pictures Never

For once in his high school career, Mike Puckett has to look up to Mr. Skeletor (Rhett Suhre).

Rosemarye Matheney, Tricia Naughton, and Tami Brandt prove that they are having much difficulty finding their mouths.

Miss Sharon Gillespie come on down and show us your underlegs!

Jodi Rowe proves to us just exactly how big her mouth is.

Lie . . . Do They???

Messy, messy, messy!! Dina Nelson's table manners seem to leave a lot to be desired.

Lindsey Boman and Mr. Miller don't exactly appear to see things eye-to-eye in this study hall confrontation!

Eat your heart out Leslie, with those scrumptuous BROWN BAG Bagels.

Tamara Davis and Coach Cryder whisper about important strategy — but we are not sure if it is about volleyball.

Homecoming '84: A "Car"

The 1984 Homecoming celebration began with "Spirit Week." The week started with Monday as "Inside-Out, Backwards, and Clash Day." Tuesday was "Rock T-shirt and Bandana Day." Wednesday was "Favorite College Day." Thursday was "Theme Day" and Friday was "Purple and Gold, Hat, and Shades Day."

Thursday evening's festivities began with the pep rally. Andy Heckman, the Master of Ceremonies, introduced the Homecoming Court.

The guest speaker was Mr. John Revell, who aroused the spirits of the audience.

This year's Homecoming Parade was led by the Parade Marshall, Gene Stratman. The class floats were all cheerfully decorated and the sophomores took first place.

This year's Homecoming Game was against the Tolono-Unity Rockets. The score was 18-15 in Monticello's favor.

The king and queen, Mark Shapland and Rosemarie Matheney, were crowned, and together they led the magic "royal dance."

Lynley Chumbley obviously enjoys the enthusiasm and excitement of spirit week.

toon" Festival of Memories

Last year's Homecoming King and Queen, Barry Allison and Sandy Eckerty, make their royal appearance at the Homecoming Dance.

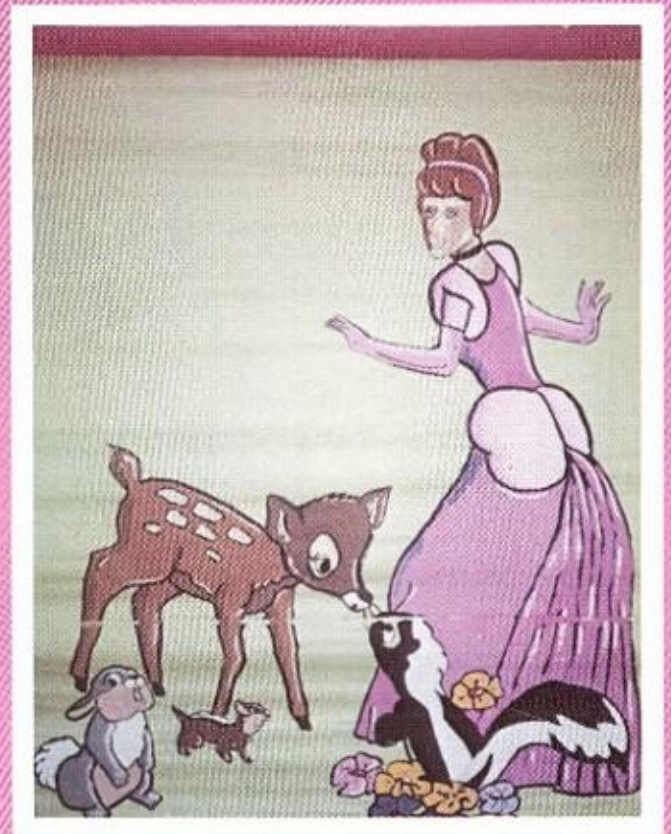

Parade Marshal Gene Stratman waves from the car driven by Mr. and Mrs. Lindsley.

The annual bonfire, the night before the Homecoming Game, lights up the night producing spirit and enthusiasm.

The senior girls showed their spirit by bringing their favorite bedtime friends with them to school on Friday.

The theme, "Cartoon Festival," was aptly displayed by one of Mr. Mula's art student's picture of Cinderella and her animal friends.

Sophomore Float

John Revell was this year's featured speaker at the pep rally before the Homecoming Game.

Brad Miller, the coach for the Sages football team, gives a pep talk to the Sages at the pep rally.

The freshman float carries attendant Jenna Whetstone and her escort Eric Williams in the annual homecoming parade.

Junior attendant Renee Oleson and her escort Scott Williams ride on the junior class float around the town square.

These seniors add a festive spirit to their float on Homecoming afternoon to help get in the "spirit" of things.

Wins First Prize

The first place winning float was built by the sophomore class. They rocketed their way to the top with attendant Stephanie Bissey atop!

You get a real "top" view of the football players riding on the fire engine as it cruises the square past the courthouse.

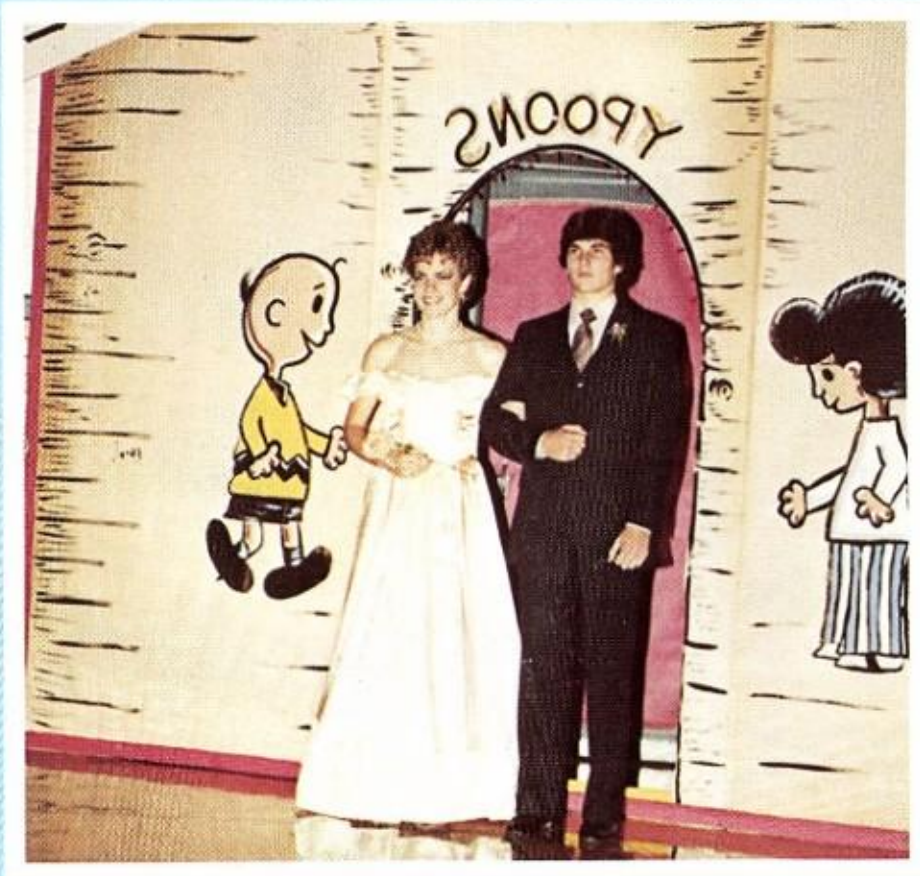

The football players receive a little pep talk from their coach before the big game on Friday night.

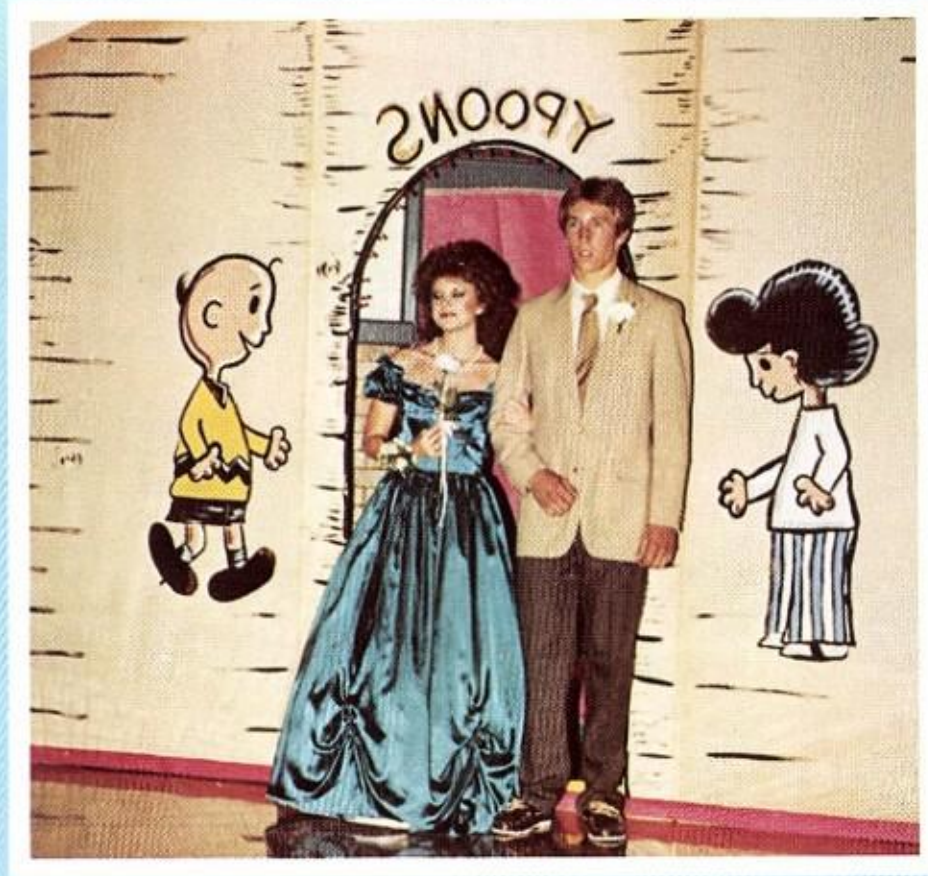

Mark Shapland and Rosemarye Matheney rule over the 1984 Homecoming Court at the ceremonies on Homecoming Night at the traditional dance.

Queen candidate Lindsey Bowman with King candidate Mark Brandon smile to the crowd as they pause outside the entrance way.

Queen candidate Rosemarie Matheney with King candidate Rob Tarter stop and enjoy a precious moment.

Memories Last Forever

Sophomore attendant Stephanie Bissey is escorted by Bobby Guido for the evening ceremonies.

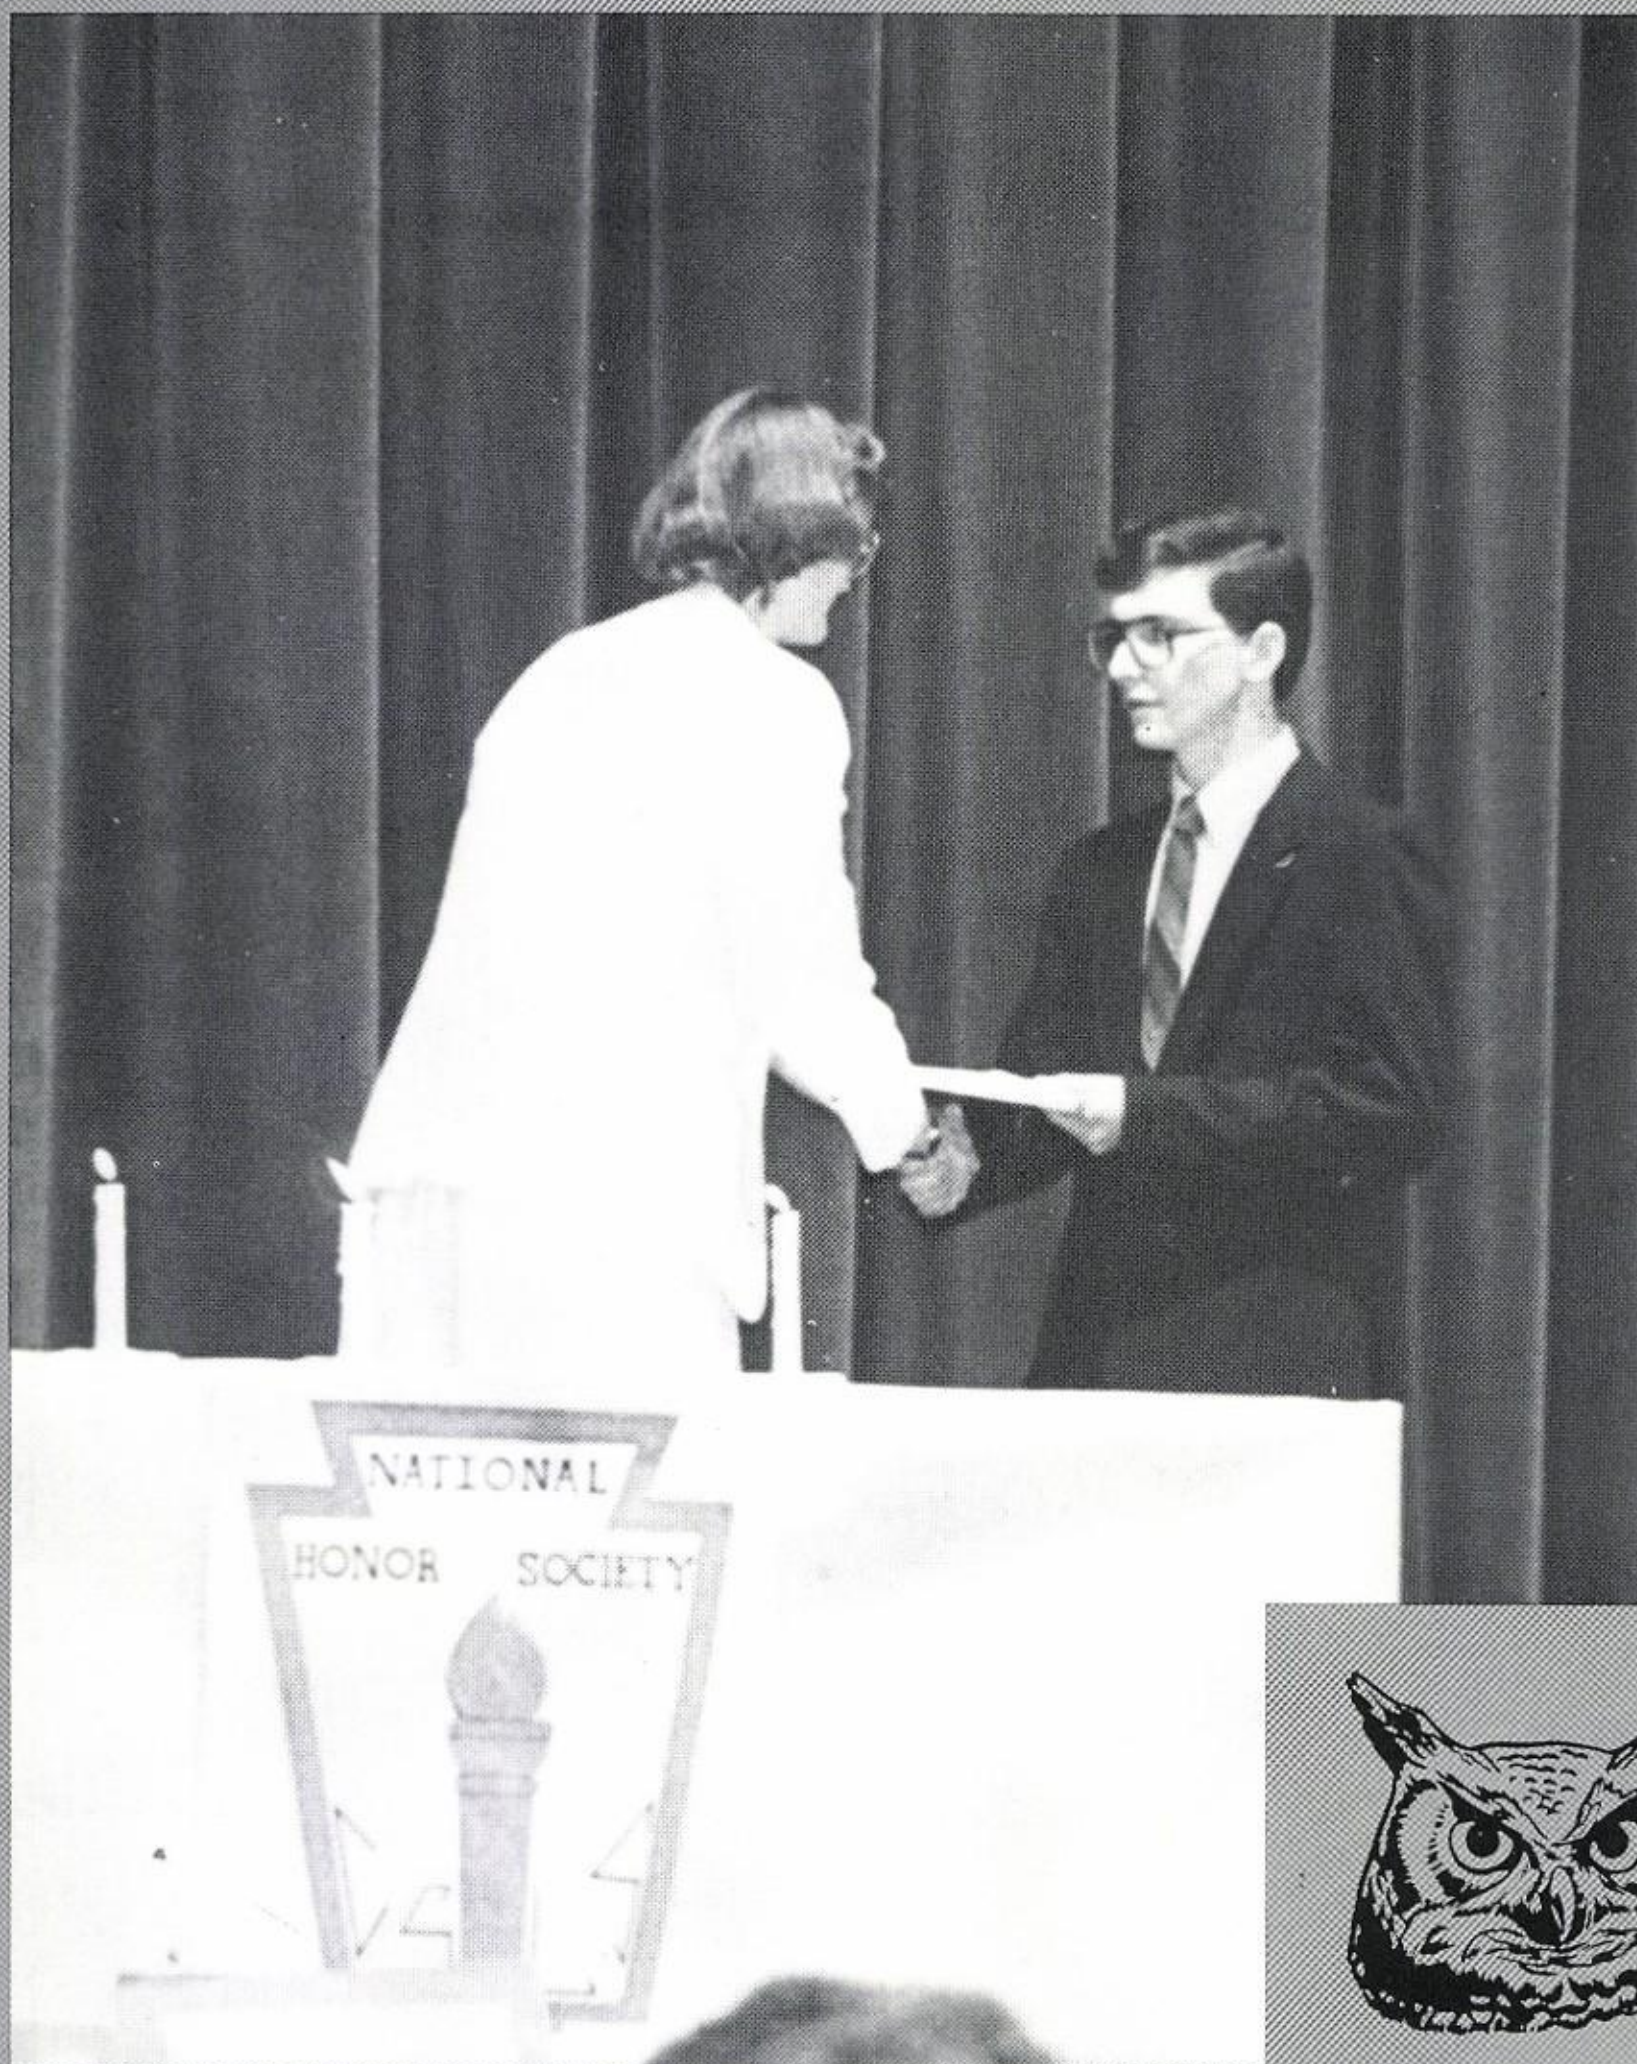

Freshman attendant Jenna Whetstone is escorted by Eric Williams.

Following tradition, the crown bearer and the flower girl, Matthew Dubson and Sabrina Strike, precede the Homecoming Court.

Awards

National Honor Society

The numerous awards included in this section range from individual awards to team accomplishments. The students at Monticello High School have learned that it is not only important to work hard as individuals but to also work as a team. If you put these skills together a student achieves his highest goals.

These students have continually proven themselves during their four years in high school and continue to do so. They have been able to do this by using their exceptional talents and abilities.

Additionally, the faculty and advisors devoted many hours of their own time and effort to helping the students develop new skills and qualities that led to the various honors and awards.

This year Mrs. Mary Lumos was the advisor for the National Honor Society. Her duties and responsibilities were very varied as the group of scholars did many different activities this year. A breakfast was held by the faculty to honor these students during the end of the year. Also, a breakfast was given to those students who made honor or high honor roll.

May 9, the Seniors were installed as permanent members of the National Honor Society. Junior and Sophomore members were given probationary cards. The Seniors who were installed were Krista

Illinois State Scholars

Carrie Bridge, Jeff Cavanaugh, Mary Faith Feeney, Don Hastings, Maureen Harshbarger, and Mike Brown were a few of the Illinois State Scholars this year.

Each year students are honored as Illinois State Scholars. In order to qualify to be a scholar one must take the ACT and attain a high score and have a fairly high class rank. Each qualifying Senior received a certificate and congratulations from Mr. Nation.

This year there were a great number of Seniors attaining this recognition. The 1984-1985 recipients were Craig Lins, Philip Kleven, Rhett Suhre, Carrie Bridge, Jeff Cavanaugh, Mary Faith Feeney, Don Hastings, Maureen Harshbarger, Mike Brown, Susan Ramsey, Jodi Rowe, Paula Schonert, Mark Shapland, Janet Stoller, John Whetstone, and Michael Tracy.

In most cases these students were also honored as Illinois State Scholarship Commission winners. If the Student attends an Illinois Institution of higher learning they will receive a monetary award in relation with the cost of the university.

Excellence in Art,

This year a special award was given in the area of Communications. The Communicator's Award is given to a Senior who has shown an above average ability and interest in several areas of communications. To qualify a student must have completed the required courses and taken one or more electives. The award was given to two very deserving people this year. Jami White and Mary Faith Feeney were the recipients of this very prestigious award.

Every year outstanding art students are acknowledged for their artistic talents. The Allerton Art Award is an annual scholarship given to a junior who shows exceptional future potential.

Another award given is the Annual Art Award, which is given to the outstanding Senior who exhibits exceptional talent in different areas of artistic endeavors.

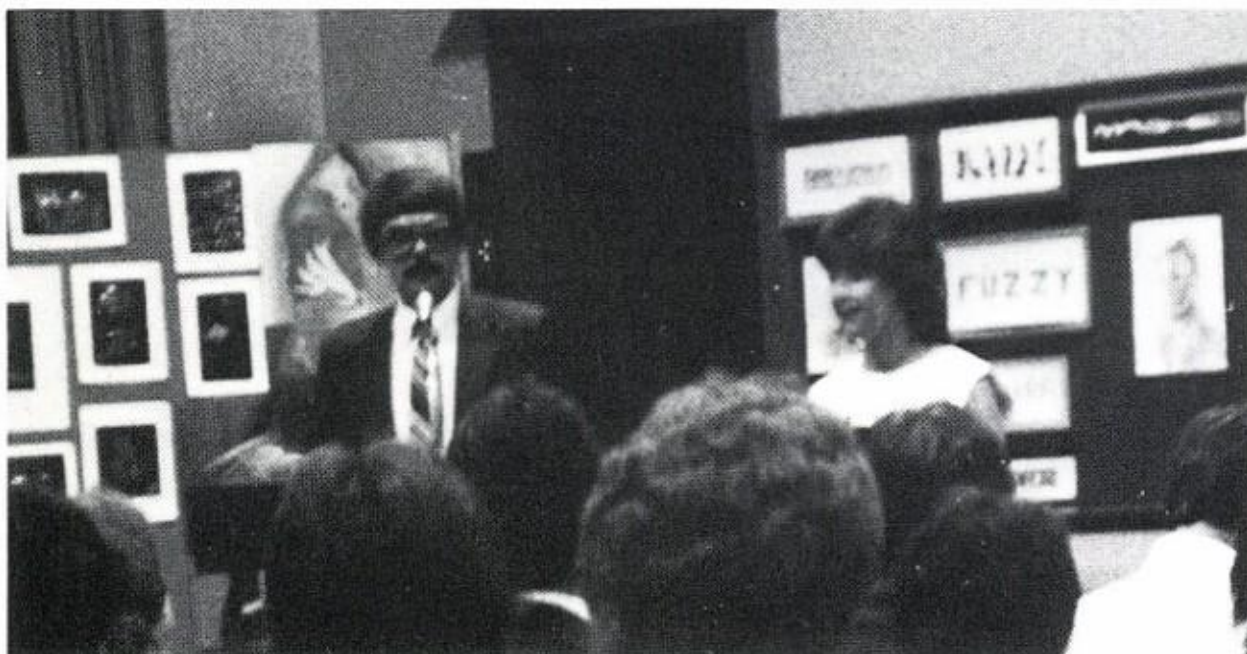

These awards are given to those students who dedicate much of their own time and effort in developing various art skills.

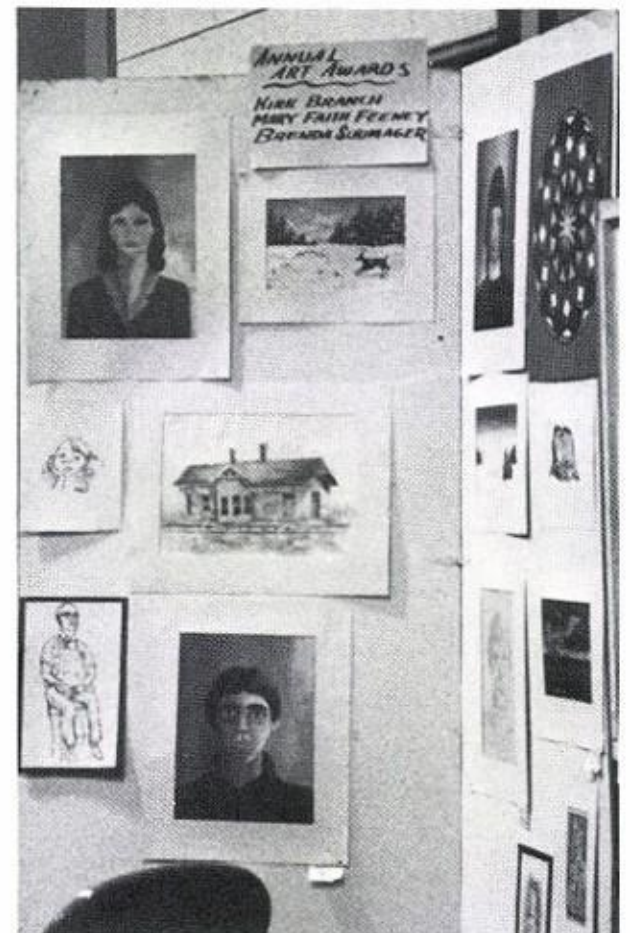

This year's Annual Art Award went to three students. They are Brenda Scrimager, Kirk Branch, and Mary Faith Feeney. Samples of their work are shown in back.

Jami White was one of the recipients of the Communicator's Award this year. Mr. Lochbaum gives a little speech about Jami's accomplishments before giving her the medallion.

Mary Faith Feeney was the other recipient of the Communicator's Award this year. Mr. Lochbaum recites a few of her accomplishments before presenting her with the medallion.

Each year Mr. Mula decorates the auditorium with the students art work to beautify the room for honor's night. Displayed here is some of the Annual Art Award winners work.

Communications, and Chorus

Rosemary Matheney was the recipient of this year's National School Choral Award.

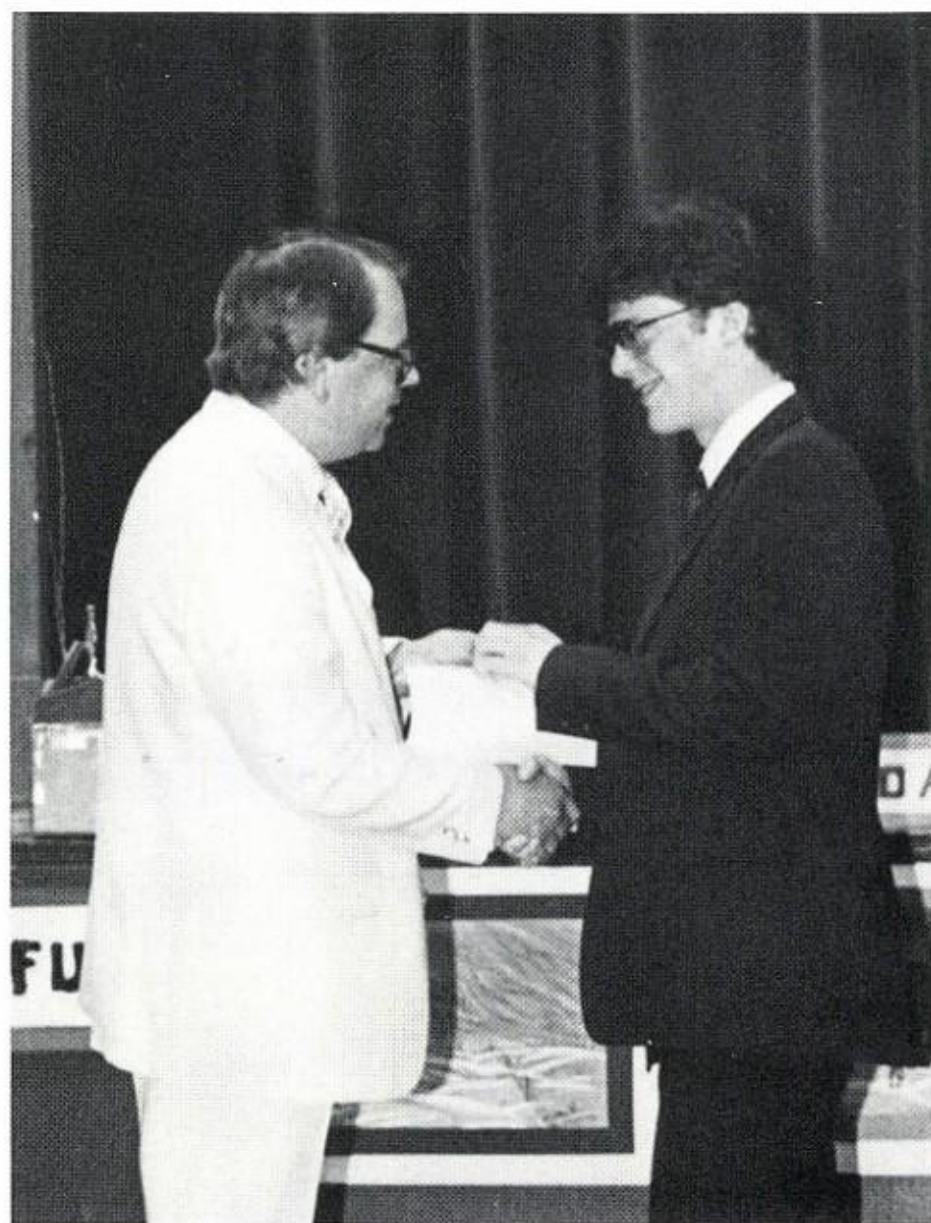

Jami White was the proud recipient of the American Choral Directors Award this year.

Each year many talented students take part in Monticello's choral program. This year is no change.

Several individuals have been chosen to receive special awards for their contributions. To receive these honors a student must have displayed dedication, leadership, and exceptional talent. Individuals who are selected possess these impressive traits and contribute a great deal to the choral program. Mr. Wenzel intends to teach his pupils not only to sing well in the chorus but also to understand some of the historical background that accompanies the music they sing.

Paula Schonert and Krista Conley were given the Leadership Award for unselfish devotion of time to making the chorus a well organized group.

Mr. Stoner presents Rhett Suhre with the Arion Award. To be eligible for this one must be in both band and chorus.

Librarians and Thespians Honored

A school without books is no school at all. Without librarians Monticello's students could not excel. This year the staff decided to say thank you to the students who help to run the library. Mrs. Doherty gave special recognition to Brad Curry. The students are indeed fortunate to have such a competent staff and dedicated student aides.

The Thespian organization is made up of a group of theatrically inclined students. The students who have dedicated outstanding talents and much time throughout the years are recipients of these prestigious awards. All of the characteristics of these individuals have been taken into consideration before choosing them for these honors.

Mrs. Doherty presents Brad Curry with the Most Valuable Library Aide award. Brad devoted his time unselfishly to helping run the library as an aide.

This year Philip Kleven received the Thespian Service Award for all those extra hours that he put into making props and settings for the plays as well as being in them.

Rosemarye Matheney received the Individual Contribution Award. Many times Rosemarye had starring roles in the plays.

Future Farmers & Homemakers

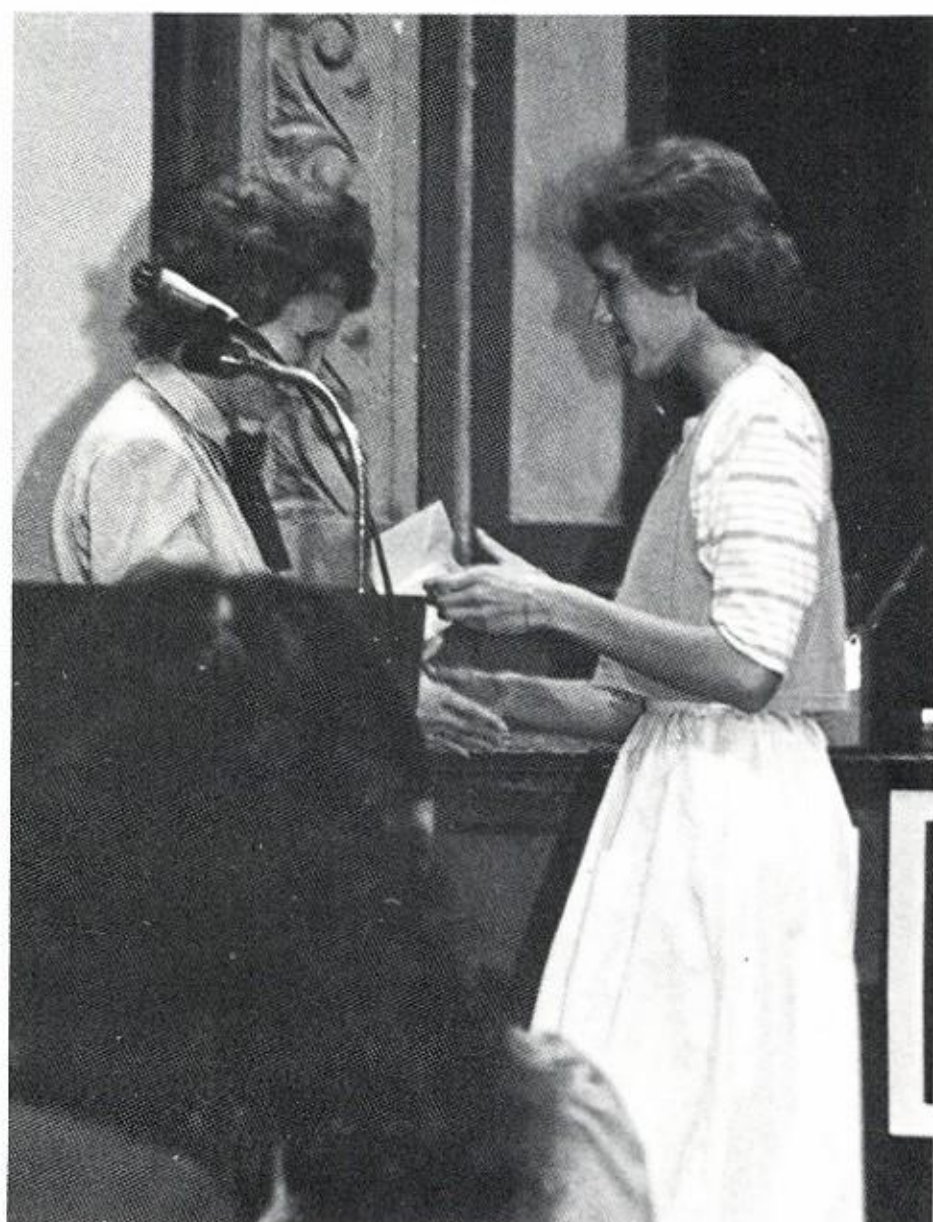

Tamara Davis and Thad Trimble were chosen as this year's winners of the Outstanding Athletes of 1985.

The Future Farmers of America and the Future Homemakers of America are national organizations with very hard-working members. The students in FFA and FHA give much time and effort towards the welfare of their organization. Those students who put forth an extra effort are the ones who are chosen as outstanding members. It is a nationally recognized award. It is through selfless dedication and individual effort that the success of these two organizations is insured. This year, Jerry Wileaver was honored as the Dekalb Award winner.

Mrs. Baughman presents LaRae Logan with a certificate for all her hard work this year in FHA. LaRae was the Secretary this year for FHA.

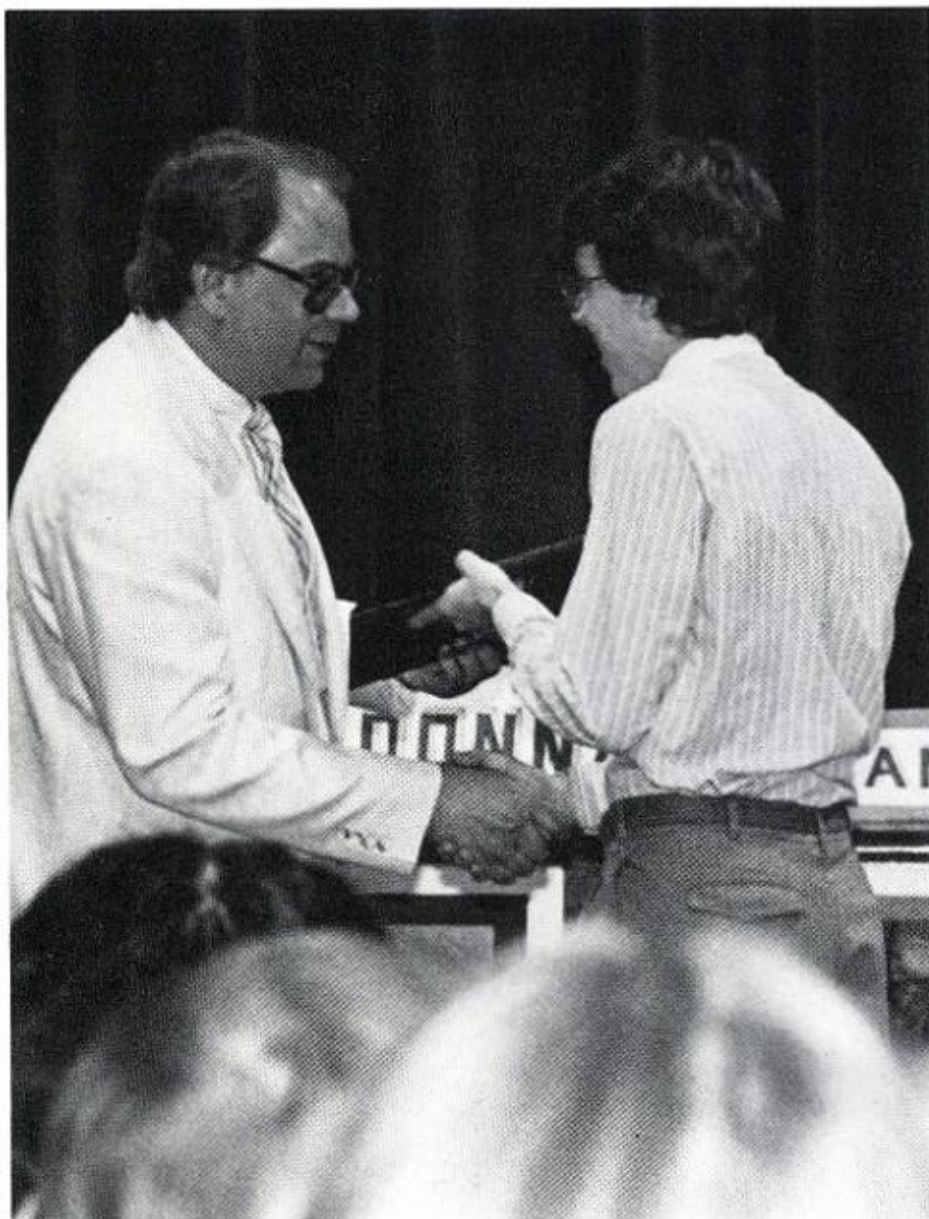

Mrs. Baughman presents Jennifer Revell a certificate for all her hard work this year as President of FHA. Jennifer will be the President next year also.

Band Awards

Throughout the year, many students are recognized for their outstanding achievements in the music department at Monticello High School. Students may receive a number of awards, such as an outstanding band member, awarded to one person from each class; or as an outstanding concert band member, awarded to one person in the concert band who shows dedication, leadership, and a good playing ability; or a leadership award for extreme dedication and leadership for their years in band; or the Louis Armstrong Jazz Award, awarded this year to Bill Kallembach for his playing ability in the jazz band; or the John Philip Sousa Award; and/or the Arion Award given for leadership, dedication, and commitment.

This year's recipients of the leadership awards are Rhett Suhre, Mark Rowe, Jeff Revell, and Melissa Reidel.

David Logan was this year's recipient of the Outstanding Concert Band Award.

Tamara Davis is this year's recipient of the John Philip Sousa Award.

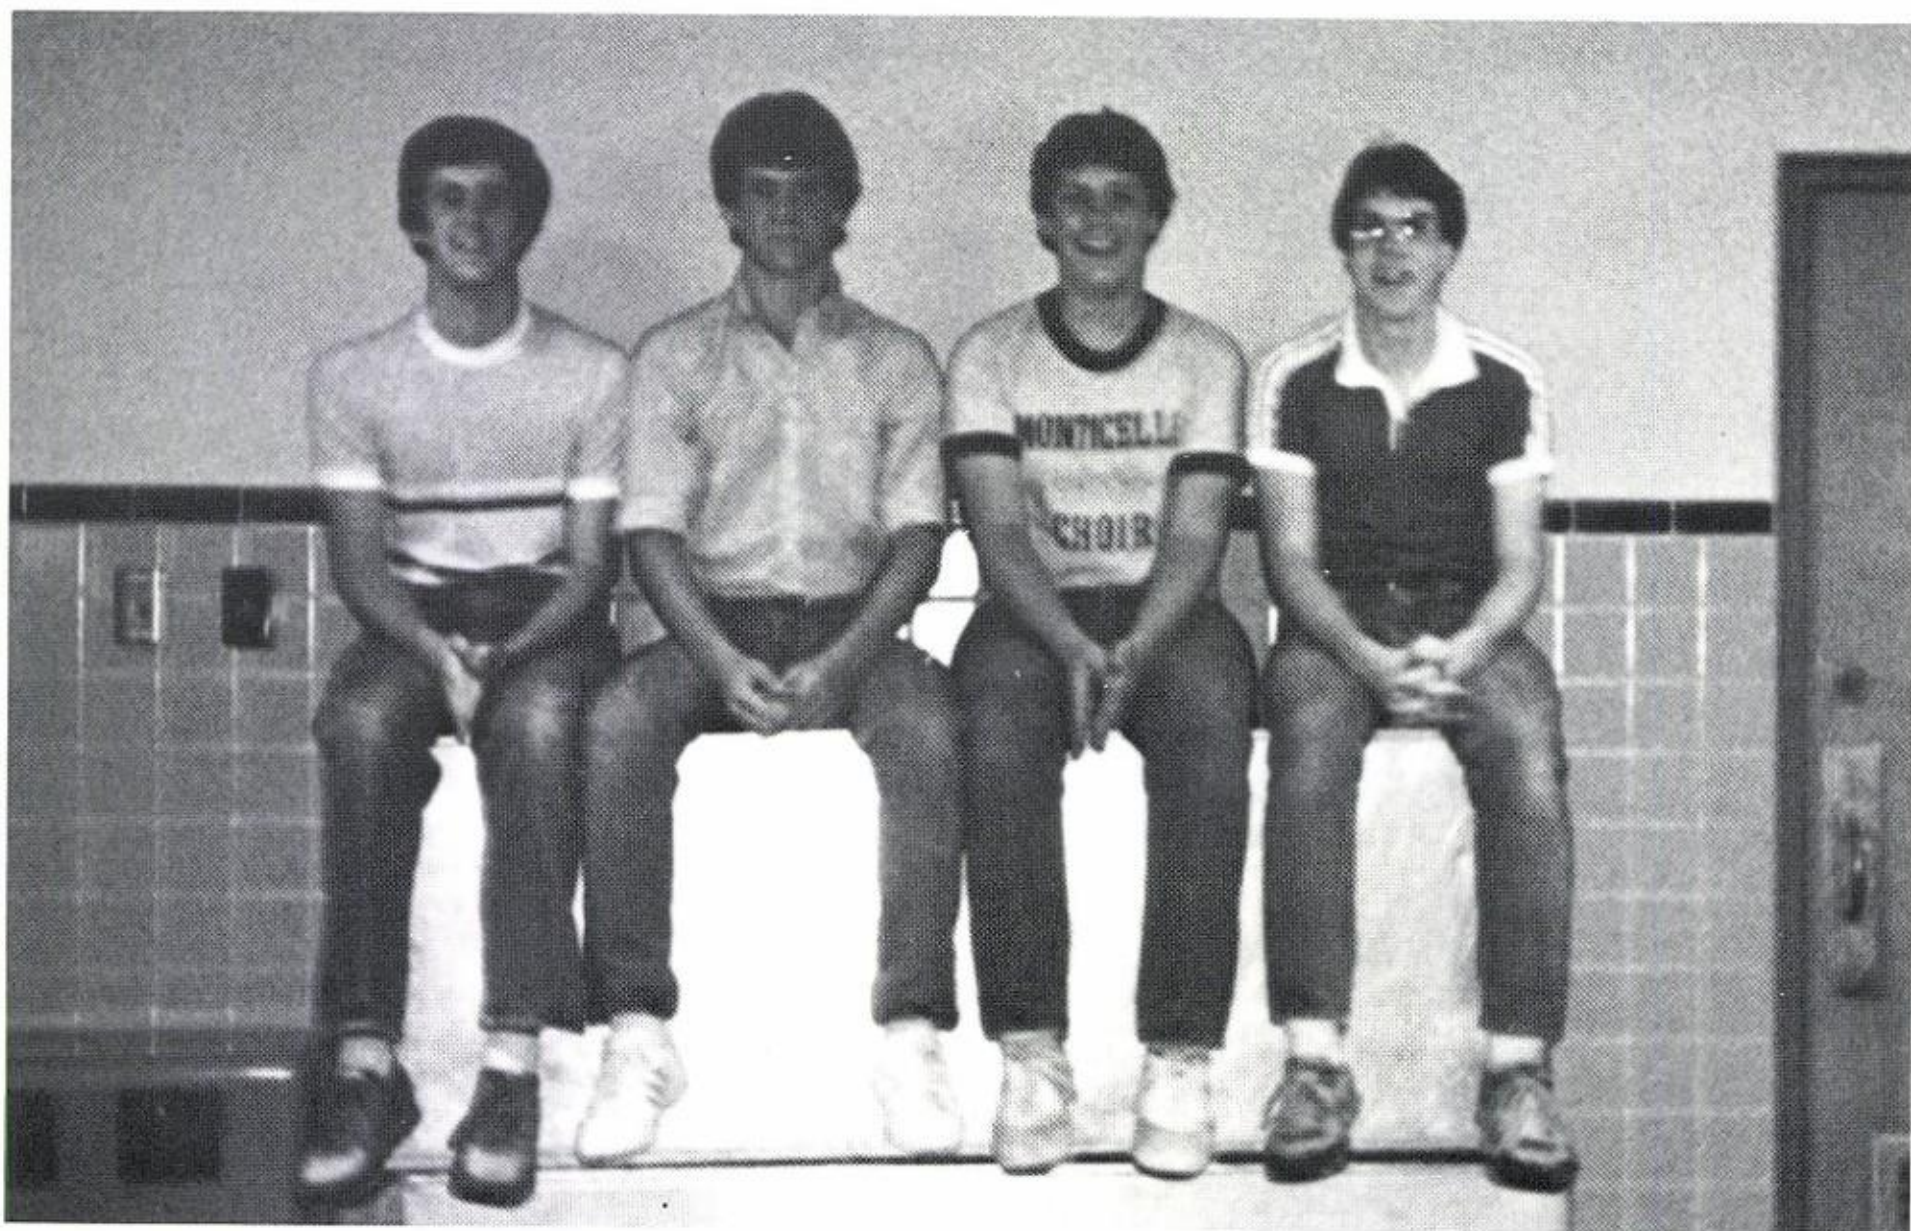

Show The Best

This year's Outstanding Freshman Band Award was given to Darren Hicks.

This year's Outstanding Sophomore Band Award was given to Jamie Puckett.

This year's band awards went to Ed Obermiller, outstanding junior; Jamie Puckett, outstanding sophomore; Darren Hicks, outstanding freshman; and David Logan, outstanding concert band member.

Science Award

Each year a special award is given in the area of Science. The Science Award is given to a student who has exhibited excellent achievement in Biology, Chemistry, Advanced Biology, Advanced Chemistry, and Physics. This year's recipient is Craig Lins.

The Math Award is given to a student who has taken four and one-half years of math. The subjects include Senior Math and Math Topics as well as Trigonometry. Craig Lins also received this honor. He has a truly wonderful talent in both of these areas.

Another award that is given annually is the DAR and SAR Award. It is given to two Senior students who are picked by their classmates on these qualities. Those are service, dependability, patriotism, and leadership. Tamara Davis and Mark Shapland were this year's winners.

This year Tamara Davis and Mark Shapland were picked by their classmates to be honored as the DAR and SAR award winners.

Mr. Porter presents Craig Lins the 1984-1985 Science and Mathematics Award. Craig received straight A's in his career in Science and Math.

Freshmen Adjust To New Pace

Freshmen are usually anxious to become high school students, but they are also worried about finding their classes, passing exams, and finding the time for their social life as well as studying too. The first month of school is an adjustment period for all freshmen to become settled into a routine. Once this is established, they're on their way to a successful career in high school.

Decisions concerning participation in many activities face the freshmen early each year. Those that go out for sports spend many hours before and after school striving to become better than competitors they meet. Many other extracurricular activities are also available such as scholastic bowl, yearbook, student council, school plays.

Semester Exams offer a vastly different experience for freshmen. These require precious studying time. Although exams are difficult, students can pass them with diligent effort.

Above all, the freshmen year offers many opportunities to meet friends, strengthen old friendships, and get a new start. It also provides a background for the rest of their high school years as they begin to plot their future.

Sophomores Continue Studies

With last year's adjustment period being over, new responsibilities and goals take priority for the sophomores. Advanced courses such as Mrs. Lindsley's Communications 10 are offered to students. Speeches are big ordeals as well as term papers. But, Finally turning sixteen and receiving a driver's license seems to make up for all the bad times.

Sophomores recognize that they must work hard to achieve good grades and to reach the goals that can help to better prepare them for the future. All these responsibilities, when finished, give a feeling of accomplishment and give reason to strive for the very best. Most importantly of all the sophomores have gained a year of experience and many new friends.

Juniors Look To Future

The Junior year represents many new activities that the student must pursue. For example, ACT's and SAT's are taken during the year by those who are going to seek a college education. Also, for several, the Junior year means being an upperclassman. At this time, if a student wishes they can graduate early or they can take a course for pass/fail. Although much worry is characteristic of the Junior year, it can still be one of the best years of high school. Towards the end of the Junior year decisions are made on which college will be attended, what type of employment is necessary to pay for college, and best of all, what types of fun everyone will have during their last year at good ol' Monticello High.

Seniors — Unique and Ambitious

The senior year brings to an end an important part of a person's life. Following this year a student must choose between continuing their education or beginning a full-time career. Those who elect to go to college must select, apply, and complete necessary tasks to secure their entrance in the fall.

Seniors with a "B" average or better are excused from taking their second exams. This is always kept on the top of a senior's priorities. They are anxious to graduate and often count down the weeks of school left. Seldom does a Senior escape the yearly disease "Senioritis."

This year's class possesses a wide range of unique qualities. We have succeeded both academically and athletically and have displayed an overwhelming range of school spirit and enthusiasm. Memories of these past years at Monticello will always bring us happiness.

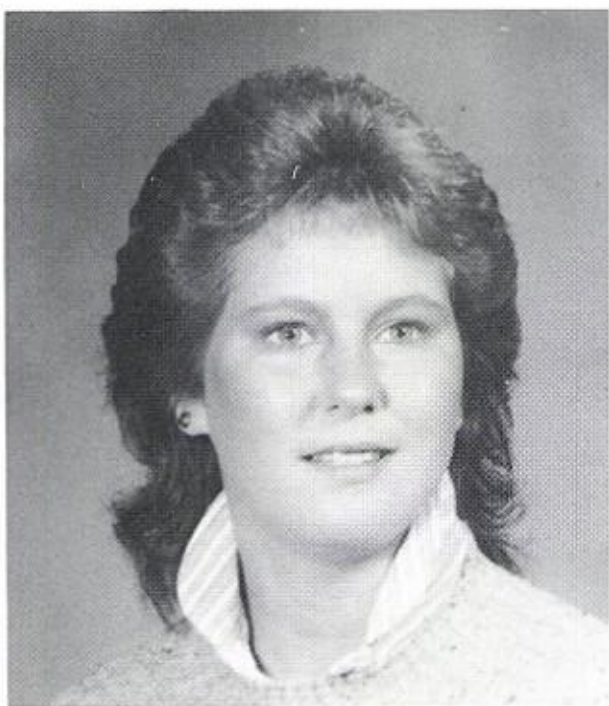

Jami White and Philip Kleven were two of our most active members in the Thespians this year.

Jusbet Porras

Each year Rotary Clubs participate in hosting students from foreign countries. This year was no exception. Jusbet Porras from San Cristobal, Venezuela, visited Monticello from early September until late July. The Feeney's, Davis', and Rowe's kept Jusbet during the year and taught her many new interesting things about our area and culture here in the United States.

Jusbet has observed many differences between her home and here. First, Americans eat more junk food like pizza and cookies. Those were her two favorite foods. Secondly, the size of San Cristobal compared to that of Monticello. San Cristobal which is located at the edge of the Andes mountains near the border with Colombia, has a population of about 5,000 people.

One of Jusbet's major accomplishments was to learn to speak English. When she first arrived, she used her dictionary for every word. Now, she understands everything, even slang.

Jusbet's favorite hobbies here were shopping and traveling. During the month of June she traveled the Western United States taking in sites such as the Grand Canyon, Hollywood, Disneyland, and the Rocky Mountains. Her trip lasted one month and she thoroughly enjoyed it.

Jusbet Porras will be missed but she is anxious to get home to study in Merida. She hopes to become a doctor. We, the students of Monticello High School wish her a good trip home. Maybe she will visit the United States in the near future. "Chao, Bye."

Jusbet walks down the aisle with Jeff Revell at Graduation. She graduated with the class of 1985.

What does Fred Erickson teach? Jusbet is taught the art of playing Blackjack at a party at the Tracy's.

Jusbet sits with her American brothers Matt and Frank Feeney in the Sunken Gardens at Allerton during the Court of Honor.

Faculty

School Board and Faculty

The responsibility of the Monticello School Board is to provide the students and the community with an excellent education. This year, 1985, William Kallembach was installed as a new member after Richard Branch resigned. Hubert Hickman served as President. Other members include: Robert Manuel, Jack Drew, Greg Nolan, Ed Lynch, and Diane Lentz.

Once a month the board assembles to discuss the units activities. Working with the administration they are responsible for the supervision of the academic curriculum and the maintenance of facilities. Much credit must be given to the faculty and staff who work with the School Board to constantly improve the educational system in Unit 25.

Administration

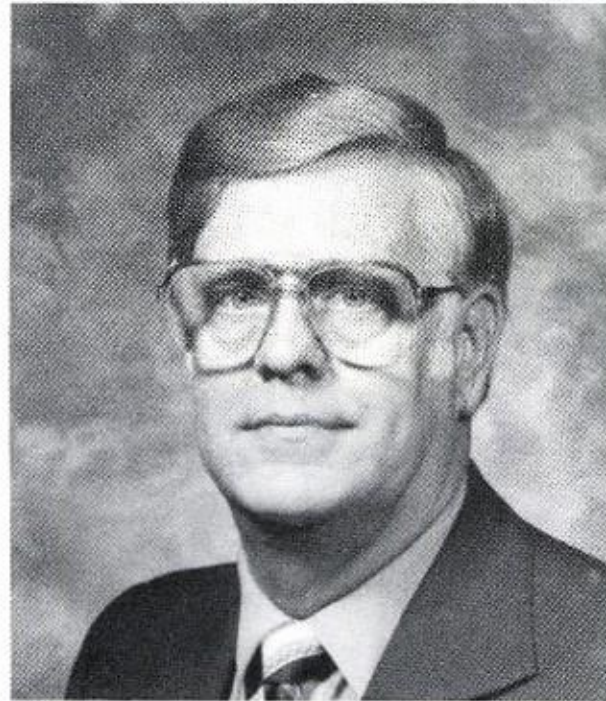

Donald Pratt is the Superintendent of the Monticello Unit Schools. It is his duty to inform the School Board about all educational issues and to prepare the budget. He is the supervisor of the employees in the district and of all building facilities. He sets the tone of the educational curriculum.

Mr. Donald Pratt: Superintendent of Monticello Unit Schools.

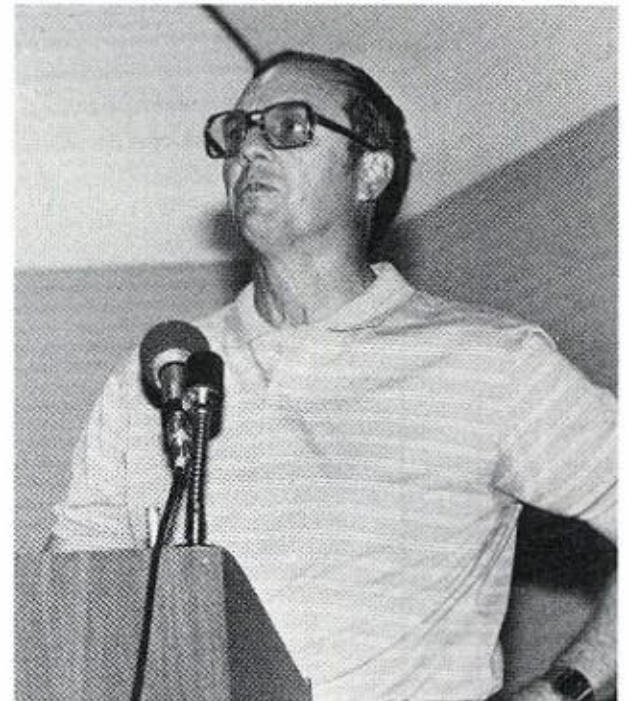

The High School Principal, William Mitze, works with the Superintendent in all the areas that apply to the high school. He coordinates the activities of students, teachers, and staff within his building.

Fred Erickson is the Assistant High School Principal. In his role, he works with both Mr. Pratt and Mr. Mitze.

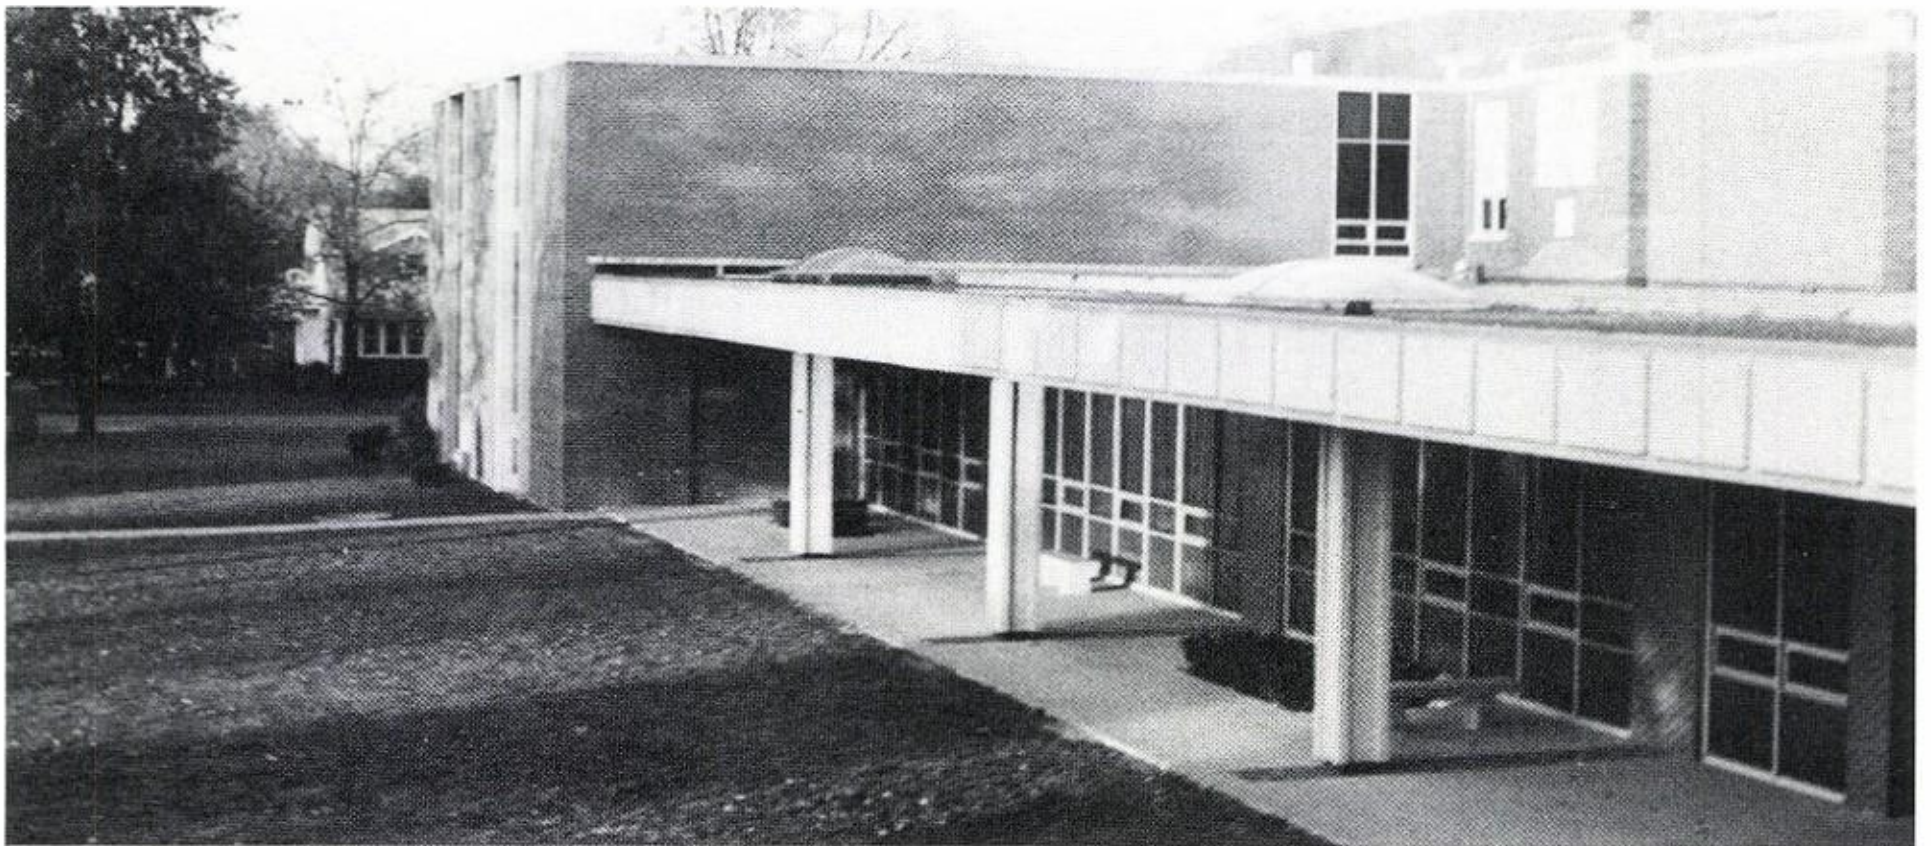

Mr. William Mitze: Monticello High School Principal.

An excellent educational system demands that the School Board and Administration work together in harmony. Such is the case in our unit as the Board, Administration and Staff strive to provide a quality educational experience.

Mr. Fred Erickson: Monticello High School Assistant Principal.

Les Gadbury Retires

Mr. Les Gadbury devoted many years to the Monticello High School system in many diversified areas. He taught Driver's Education and Consumer's Education to many students and coached football and track teams to many victories.

Les Gadbury served in World War II and gave his time unselfishly to his country. After this he resumed teaching.

The students of Monticello High School and the faculty would like to personally thank Mr. Gadbury for all his time and help in making us all better drivers and for his great coaching skills. Thank you Mr. Gadbury for everything. We wish you the best in your years of retirement.

Foreign Language and Fine Arts

Spanish and French are the foreign languages at Monticello High School. The four year curriculum in each course introduces the students to the culture and language of the Spanish and French speaking peoples.

For many years the Art Department at Monticello High School has an excellent opportunity for the students to expand their knowledge of art in the world around them. Many medias are introduced. An educational trip to the Art Institute in Chicago is one highlight of the program. Oftentimes the students in this curriculum are honored in the Regional Art Exhibit at Robersons.

Mr. Mula: Art 9,10,11,12.

Mr. Storey: Crafts.

Mrs. Lumos: Spanish 9,10,11,12.

Mrs. Davis: French 9,10,11,12.

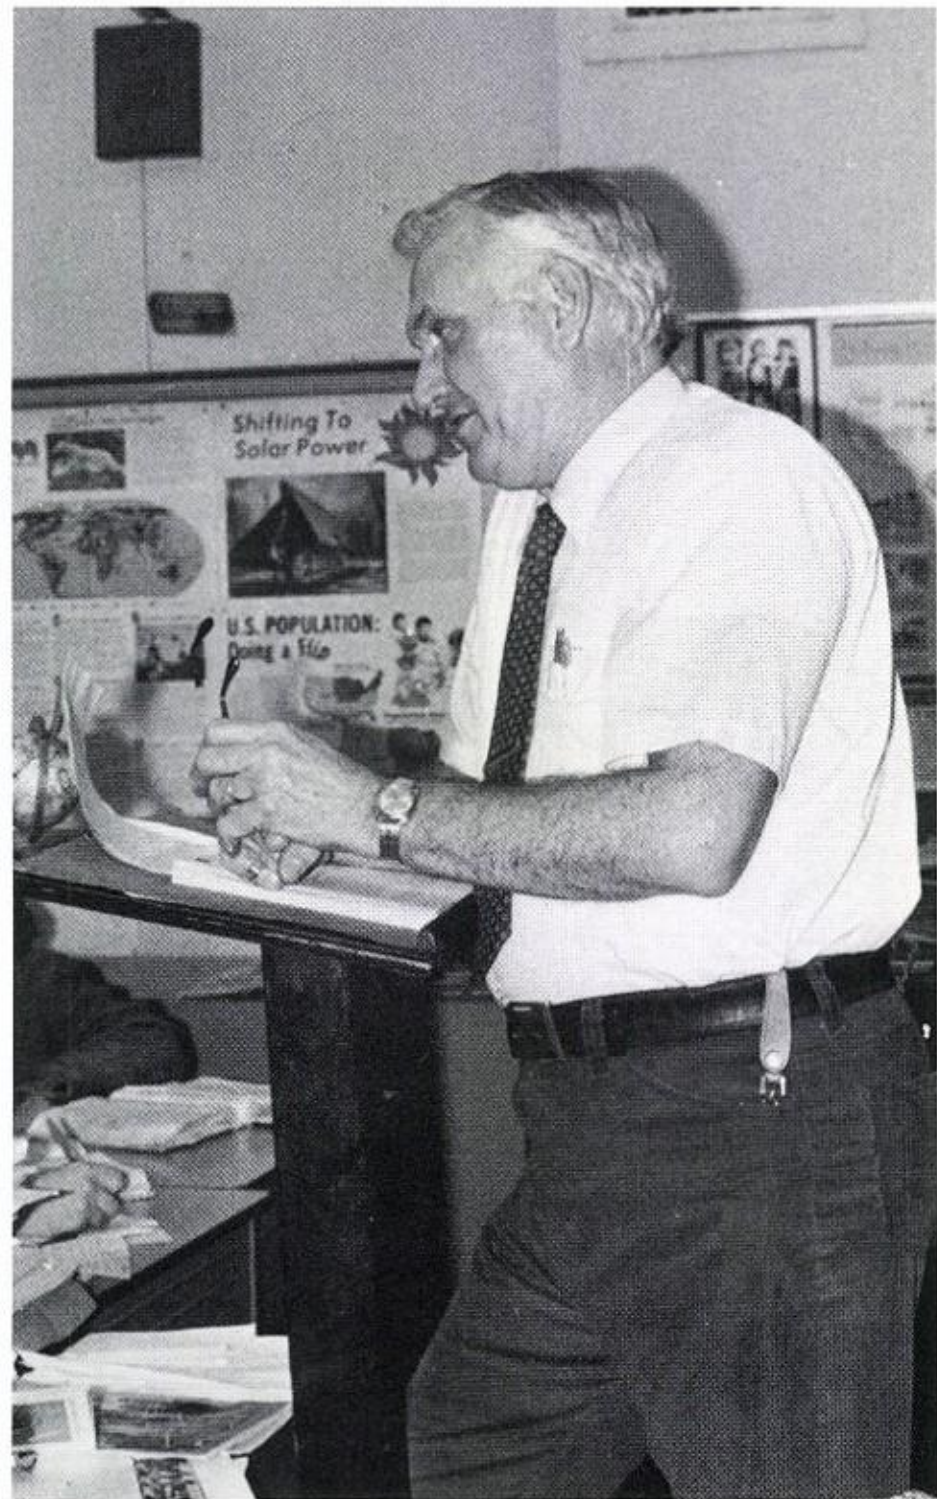

Mr. Mula tells of emotional strain which his picture portrays that he painted during World War 2.

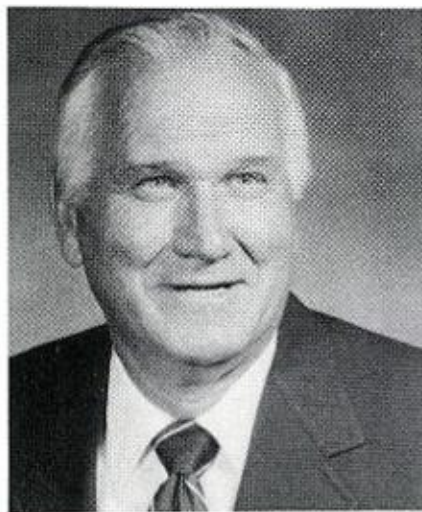

History and Business

The Business Department offers the students an opportunity to learn some different aspects of business. It also consists of a few courses for basic everyday living. Accounting, Economics, Marketing, and Business Law are included in the curriculum.

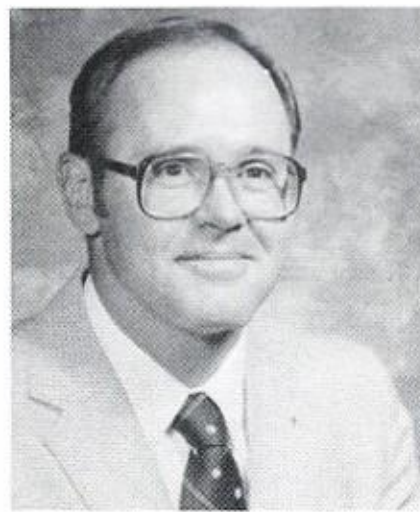

The History class demands two years of study. The social science department takes trips to help teach students about this world. This curriculum is offered in summer school.

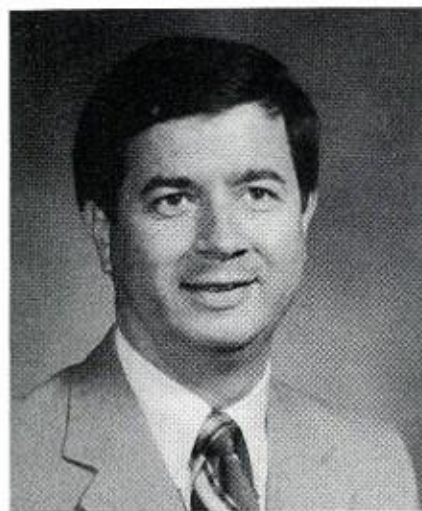

Mr. Gardner gets through to his Poli-Sci. class.

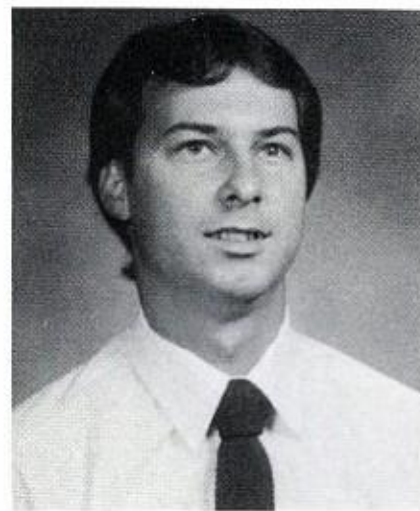

Mr. Gardner: American Government, U.S. History, World Geography, and Political Science.

Mr. Miller: U.S. History, World History, Economics, and P.E. 11,12.

Mr. Ross: Psychology, Sociology, U.S. History and Humanities.

Mr. Townsend: Business, Accounting, General Business, Marketing.

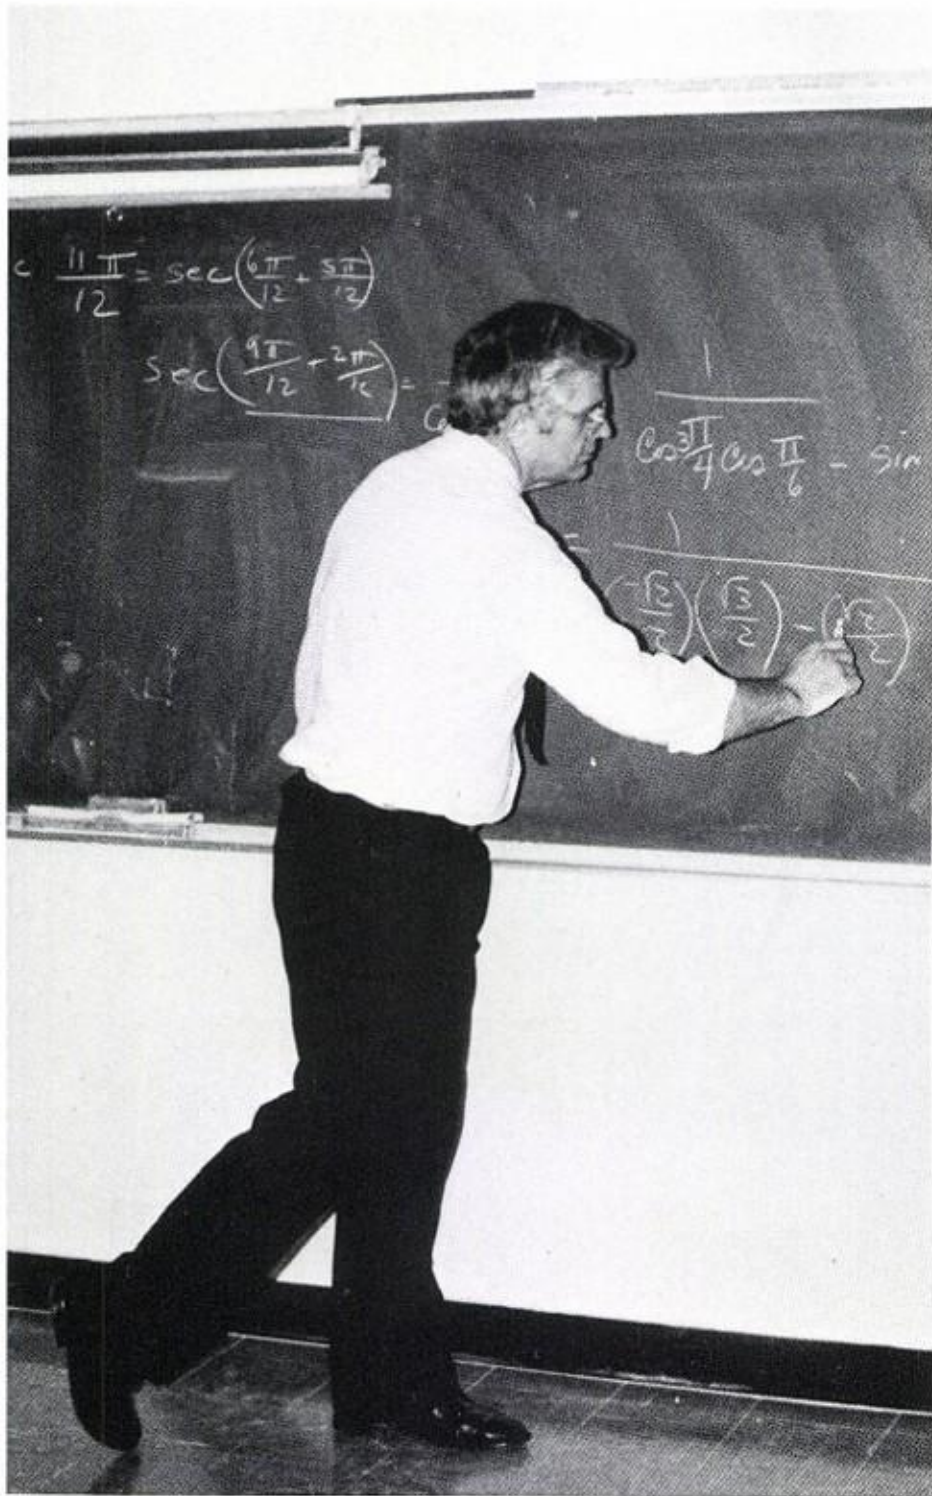

Mrs. Crotinger: Accounting and Computers.

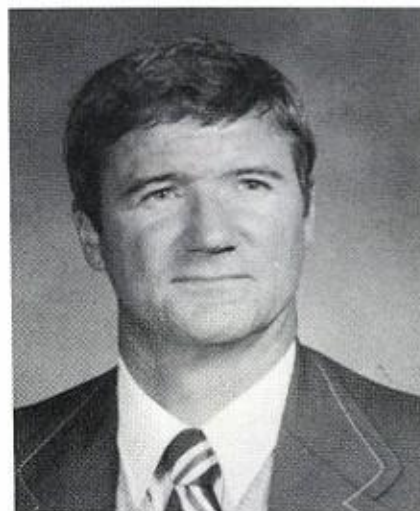

Miss Heidkamp: Clerical and Office Practice, Shorthand, Basic Typing, and Advanced Typing.

Science and Mathematics

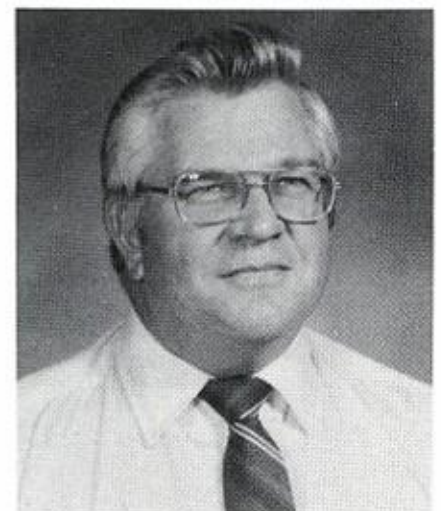

Mr. Reinhart is still figuring!

The Math and Science Departments take students from basic study to higher skilled tasks. Each student is required to receive a minimum of one credit in order to graduate. This requirement is being increased for students who enter Monticello High School in 1984-1985. These are two strong Departments at Monticello High School. Many students continue their education in these fields.

Mr. Swartztraub: Algebra 9, Basic Algebra.

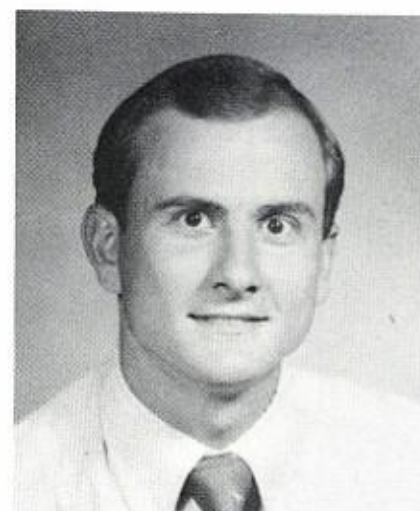

Mr. Reinhart: Geometry, Advanced Algebra, Senior Math, Trigonometry, Math Topics.

Mrs. Williams: Environmental Science.

Mr. Erickson: Biology, Advanced Biology.

Mr. Porter: Biology, Physics.

Mr. Swango: Algebra, Geometry.

Vocations and Home Economics

Vocations and Home Economics are two areas of study designed to prepare students to be on their own after graduating from high school. Students enrolled in Vocations classes often join Future Farmers of America. While the students in Home Economics may join Future Homemakers of America.

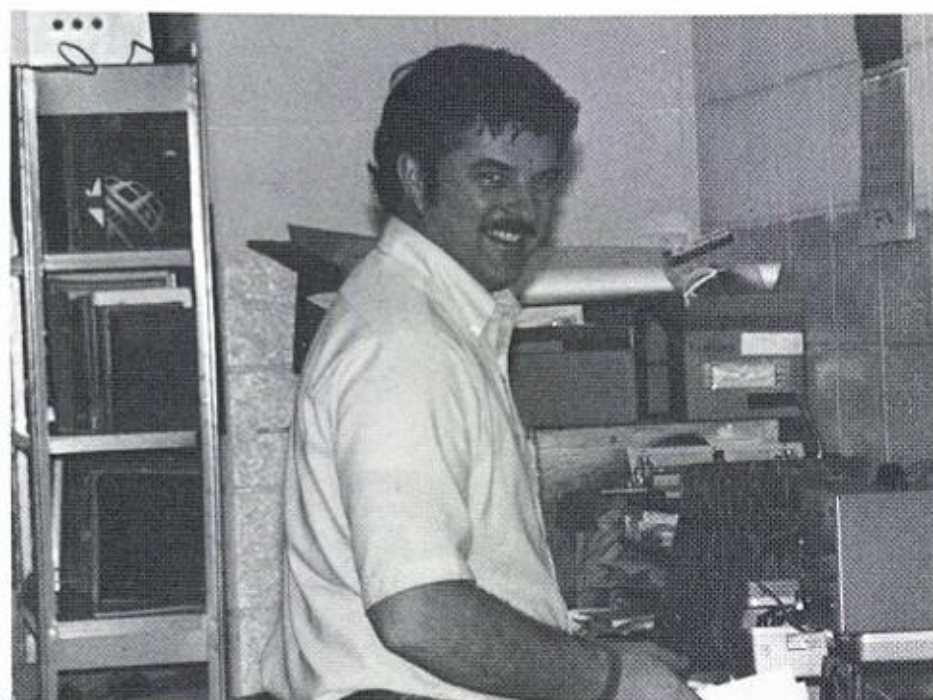

Mrs. Baughman: Home Economics, Clothing, Parenting, Child Development, Adult Living, Life Management.

Mrs. Parsons: Foods, Gourmet, Home Economics 9.

Mr. Heider is breaking a circuit!

Mr. Levitt: Machine Shop, Advanced Machine Shop, Metals, Welding.

Mr. Heider: Electricity, Inter-related Occupations, Basic Electronics

Mr. Schmitt: Drawing, Drafting.

Mr. Maxwell: Agriculture, Engines.

Media Center and Guidance Counselors

The Media Center at Monticello High School serves the students and the teachers. The staff is well qualified and very willingly to give extra help to anyone. Not only do they supply books for research and pleasure, but many audio-visual aids are available too. The library faculty gives the students a pleasant quiet place to learn.

Mr. Reynolds: Media Center Consultant.

Mrs. Gilbreath: Media Center Secretary.

Every morning you can find Mrs. Doherty at this desk.

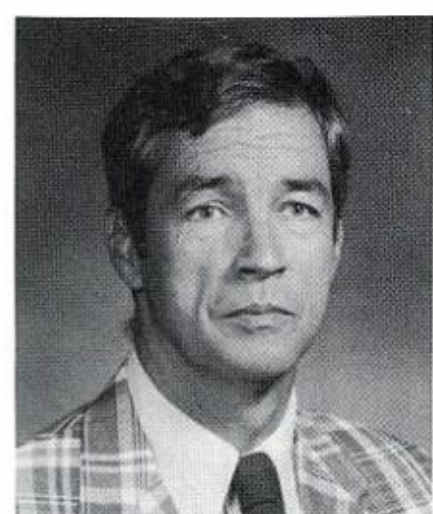

Mr. Parsons spends his mornings handing out advice.

The Guidance Counselors have the task of helping each student prepare for his future. They help students arrange their schedules for the coming year and advise graduating seniors who are planning for college.

Mr. Nation: Guidance Counselor.

Mr. Parsons: Guidance Counselor.

Communications

Three credits are required for graduation. For variety, speech courses and a humanities course are offered. Students are instructed on a level that is in line with their potential. The Communications Department prepares its students for the world in many areas. Among many other skills, vocabulary perfection is required by Mr. Lochbaum. Mrs. Lindsley teaches her students to love poets. Mrs. Paoli loves to help many students on a one to one basis. Mr. Voss instructs his humanities students about many cultures. Mr. White may put you on stage.

Mrs. Paoli: Developmental Communications 9 & 11.

Mr. Voss: General Communications 11, Communications 11, and Humanities.

Mr. Lochbaum: Communications Department Head and Communications 9, 11, and 12.

Mr. White: General Communications 10 and Speech.

Mrs. Lindsley: Communications 10 and General Communications 12.

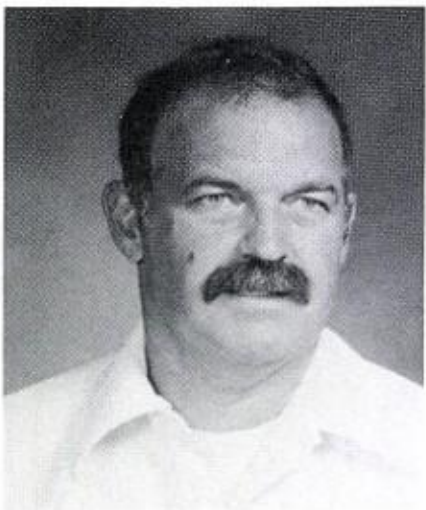

Music

The Vocal Music Department allows students to be surrounded by a musical environment. It consists of a mixed choir, a men's choir, a women's choir, a chamber choir, and a madrigal choir group.

The Marching Sages continue to maintain their superior marching show along with entertaining the public with the concert and symphonic bands.

Mr. Wenzel shows his musical talents on the piano.

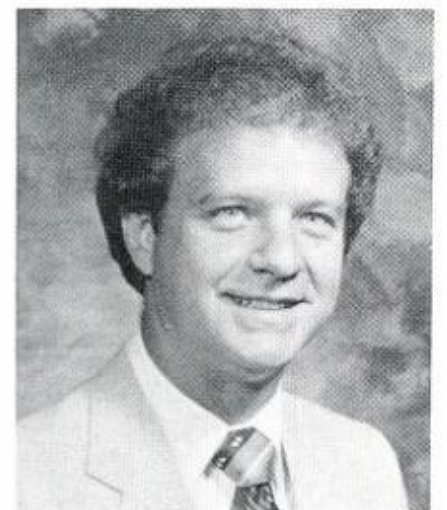

Mr. Wenzel: Chorus and Humanities.

Mr. Holmes: Marching Band.

Mr. Stoner: Marching Band.

Drivers Education and Physical Education

Special Education

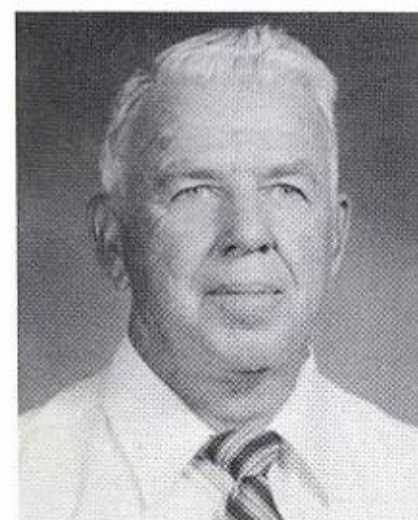

Each student must complete 30 hours of classroom study and 6 hours of behind-the-wheel training for Driver's Education. This class allows the student to meet the requirements for receiving his driver's license. It is taught along with Consumer's Education.

Physical Education students are grouped by class. The Freshman-Sophomore classes are taught by Miss Cryder and Mr. Trimble. The Junior-Senior classes are also taught by Mr. Trimble and Mrs. Heidkamp. Sections studying health and CPR are taught to all students.

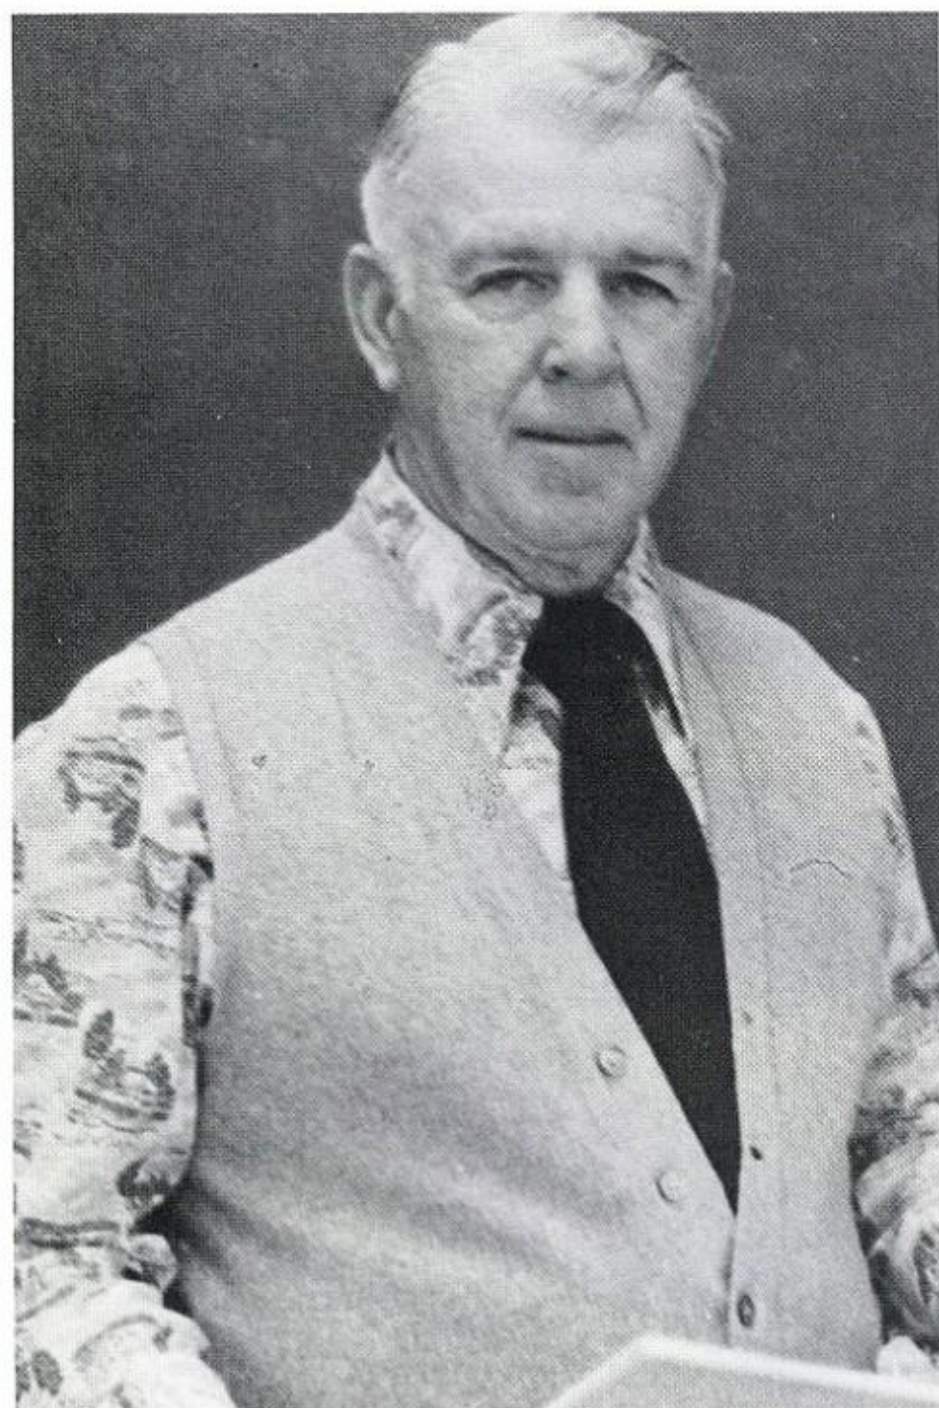

Students have a chance to work on a one to one basis with the teacher in the learning disabilities program. It is designed to help students overcome weaknesses in certain skill areas.

Mrs. Benson: Special Education.

Mr. Gadbury: Driver's Education.

Mr. Gadbury in this, his last year before retirement, not only taught "Driver's Ed.," he also taught "Consumer's Ed."

Mr. Trimble: Physical Education, Driver's Education.

Mr. Albaugh: Physical Education.

Miss Cryder: Physical Education.

Secretaries

The operation and efficiency of the school could not exist without the help of many people. Those who are responsible are the secretaries, the cooks, the custodians, and the bus drivers. These important people are often not credited for their contributing roles in this school system.

The secretaries perform such jobs as recording grades, writing a million admit slips as well as many late slips, typing letters, and taking attendance. It is a wonder that this group ever survives.

The cooks have the duty of making sure that the students have a well-balanced meal. Whether the students like it or not. They serve both the students and faculty and are an essential part of the school.

The custodians help maintain a clean and pleasant environment for the students to learn in. They always come to the aid of the student when they need help. A good example is when the student needs to get into the school after the day is finished.

These men are a students best friend.

The bus drivers take the responsibility of making sure the students arrive safely to their destination. They also transport students to football games, band competitions, and many other extracurricular activities.

We the students of Monticello High School would like to salute all of you who help make our days at school go easier.

The men who keep our school clean and running are the hard working custodians. They are Jim Hanson, Frank Ellis, Robert Dowdle, Rich Timmons, Monk Tarter, Larry Grant, Rick Timmons, and Ron Hatfield.

Organizations

Student Council

The Monticello High School Student Council, under the direction of advisor Charles Ross, continues their relationship between faculty and students. The members of the student council work many long hours to provide the students with several activities.

The members of the council learn the meaning of hard work, long hours, and the ability to attain a certain goal or task. These things they learn can be helpful in later life.

Each year, in the school, new officers are elected. These officers begin their term in the early spring and continue until the same time the next year. The student representatives are elected a few weeks after the officers are elected. There are seven representatives from each class that are elected to serve as a go-between with the faculty and students.

Some of the various activities the council sponsors include Homecoming, MORP, the spring Carnival, the assemblies that are presented each nine weeks, and other dances throughout the year.

The student council at Monticello High School has shown leadership and responsible student government in the past, again this year, and will certainly continue in the future.

Pep Club Creates Spirit

The job of the pep club officers is to think of ideas to boost spirit. This may seem like an easy task, but to the officers it is a difficult job.

The pep club is designed to get the students involved with supporting the Sages. A way to get the pep club members excited is to have pep assemblies. At the assemblies there is always a class competition cheer. The class that yells the loudest is the winner, and they receive the "spirit stick."

Pep club members pick the cheerleaders they think have the most spirit, for the next year.

The pep club executive board this year consisted of Laura Kern, Amanda Felts, Lisa Miner, Faryn Ziegler, and Amy Stephens.

The pep club advisor is Mrs. Davis. She works hard throughout the year helping the pep club.

M.C. Offers Variety

Student council is just one of the groups which use the media center. Tamara Davis reads roll call during one of their meetings.

The media center offers a great variety of study and visual aids varying from books to microfilm. It also offers a relaxed atmosphere for studying or for talking with friends. Many classes also use the media center for research papers or resource work.

Another use of the media center is a place for group gatherings such as student council and school board meetings.

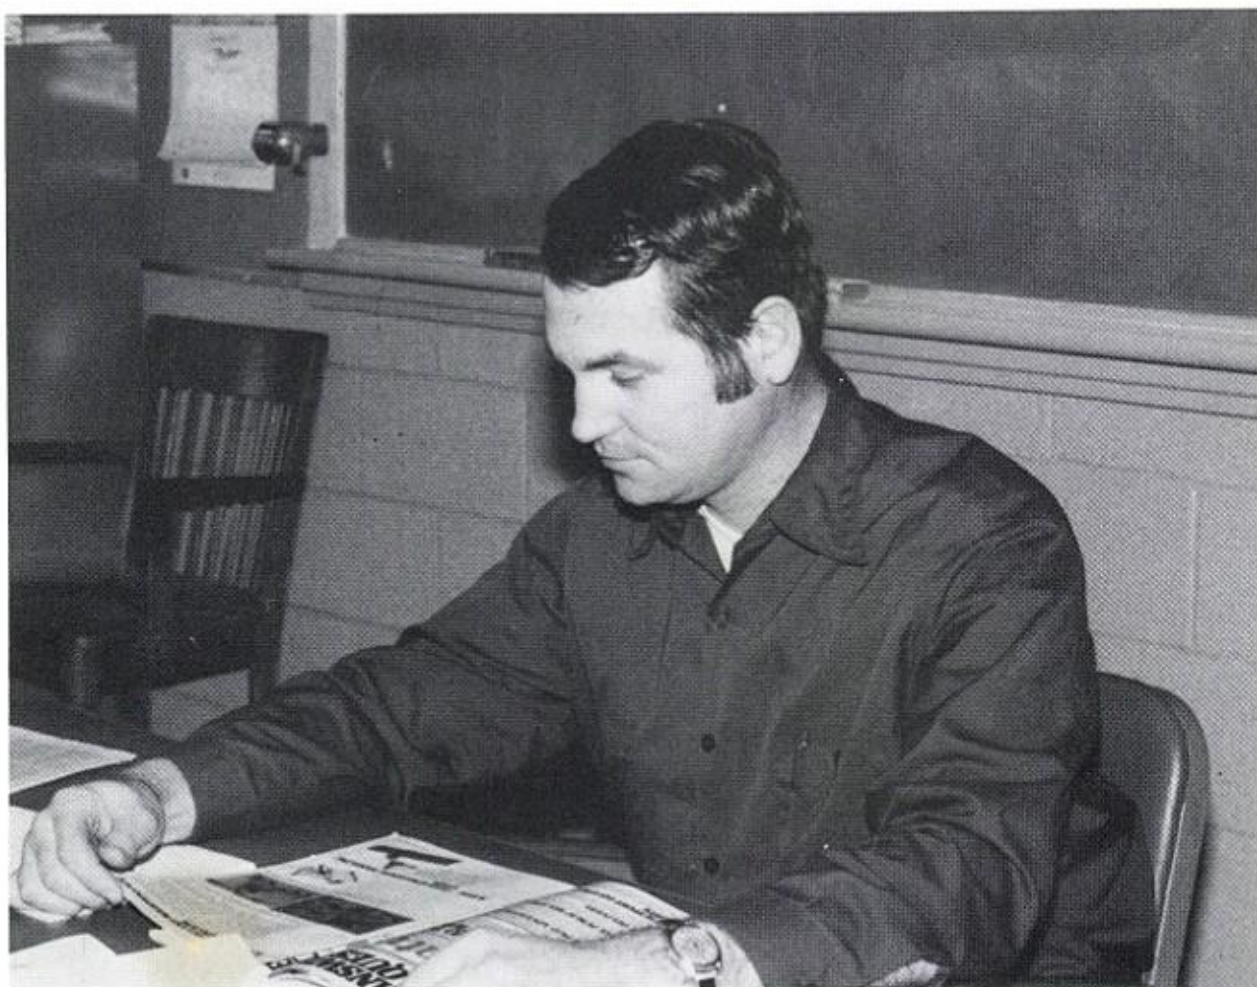

A media center can be a great asset not only to the students but the community as well. The media center oftentimes carries resource material that cannot be found in a public library.

Future Farmers of America

Future Farmers of America is a National Organization for students enrolled in vocational agriculture classes. F.F.A. provides leadership skills, citizenship, cooperation, and special training in agriculture. F.F.A. offers its members sufficient opportunity for future careers in vocational fields. F.F.A. is concerned with many aspects of agriculture. F.F.A. students learn how to work with farm machinery and about different types of livestock.

Mr. Maxwell spends a great deal of time preparing for class so that his students will learn agricultural skills.

Enrolled in F.F.A. are the following: Craig Mackey, President; Tim Foran, Vice-President; Jerry Willeaver, Secretary; Richard Feeney, Treasurer; Bob Maxwell, Reporter; and Gary Myerscough, Sentinel.

Future Homemakers of America

Mrs. Baughman, LaRae Logan, Donna Sprinkle, and Pam Chitwood pose beside one of the cutest floats in the Homecoming parade, built entirely by the Monticello FHA.

The Future Homemakers of America (FHA) at Monticello High School is a dedicated and talented group which strives to learn and achieve in our ever more complex world.

Studying areas ranging from cooking to parenting, these students begin to develop skills and an understanding of existence outside the limited range of high school activities in preparation for taking that giant step into the outside world after graduation.

Additionally, these students are involved in fundraising activities for their organization and sponsor a number of fun get-togethers throughout the year and even build a float for the Homecoming parade each fall.

These are truly students looking to better prepare themselves for a future in a very realistic sense.

French Club A Success

The French Club once again had a successful year. Under the direction of Mrs. Davis, the executive board planned the annual French Club Christmas Party and the Mardi Gras.

The Christmas party was highlighted by a visit from Pere Noel and the madrigal singers.

Mardi Gras was also very successful this year. A choice of chicken, pork, or beef was offered to those who attended and the seniors provided entertainment with their version of "The People's Court."

Rosemarye Matheney, Tricia Naughton, and Tami Brandt seem to have trouble hitting their mouths at the Christmas party.

Art Club

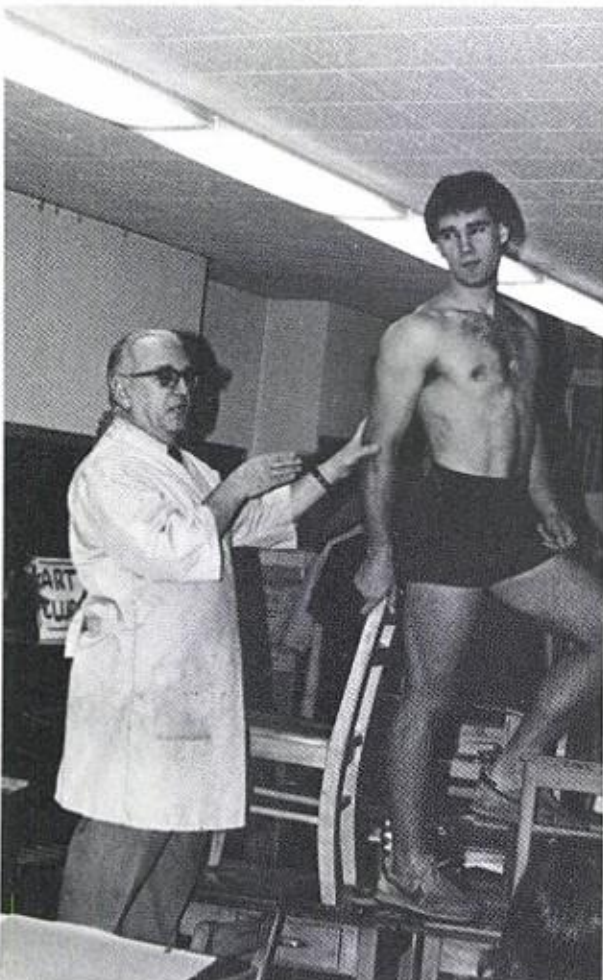

In May, Muffie Feeney will give up the Presidency of the Art Club. Trena Floyd and Karen Flaherty will succeed her as next year's officers.

The main objective of the art department is to give students an ability to be creative and sensitive. Activities are designed to increase the students awareness of art in their surroundings. Mr. Mula is constantly creating new ways to capture the students interest.

The students are also involved in studies outside the classroom. Decorating the gym for Homecoming and decorating the hallways during Honor's Night are a couple of these activities.

Every month the Art Club holds a meeting. At these meetings a guest speaker gives a presentation about a career in the field of art. The purpose of this is to expose art students to the different medias of art and encourage them to be creative. In addition, each year the Art 12 students go to the Art Institute in Chicago.

Mr. Robert Hendren and Miss Mary Pat Cullen were the guest speakers for the Art Club in March. Both are student teachers in the Monticello School system.

Karen Flaherty diligently works on her figure drawing in order to finish it in time.

Each year the art students are required to draw the human anatomy. Here, Thad Trimble poses for the class.

Scholastic Bowl Team

The MHS Scholastic Bowl Team had a respectable season this year. They were the champions of the Warrensburg Cardinal Classic Tourney with a record of 5-0. The team placed third in the Okaw this year with a record of 7-3. The Scholastic Bowl Team was 16-6 for the season losing only one non-conference game. This year's coach was Mr. Jeff Porter.

This year's Varsity team included the following people: Mike Tracy, Mary Faith Feeney, Don Hastings, Jeff Cavanaugh, Craig Lins, Greg Liestman, Mark Tracy, Paul Gibbs, Philip Kleven, and Krista Conley. The J.V. team consisted of Doug Lins, Shane Greenarch, Tracey McGehee, Dawne Wenzel, Dawn Orr, Lisa Cross, Martha Feeney, Justin Peterson, Carl Nation, and Chad Hertz.

Don Hastings musters all his knowledge from within himself before the next toss-up is given. If he answers correctly a bonus is given.

Philip Kleven and Greg Liestman concentrate deeply before deciding to answer the toss-up in literature. Who won the toss-up?

Music with Impact

This year's Madrigal group was the largest to date with 18 singers from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Besides the annual madrigal dinner, the group performed in many other activities. They performed on the "Season's Greetings" commercials on WCIA and they also caroled to many places around the community.

The group this year included: Sophomores — Becky Hanchar, Bob Guido, and Dawne Wenzel. Juniors — Kathy Hall, Andy Heckman, Greg Liestman, Jeff Litner, Craig Mackey, Angela Smith, and Jennifer Wright. Seniors — Liz Brown, Krista Conley, Phillip Klevin, Rosemarye Matheney, David Randall, Paula Schonert, Rhett Suhre, and Jami White.

The serving wenches receive final instructions from Mr. Wenzel before the Madrigal Dinner.

During the dinner, the singers also perform a short play. Angela Smith and Bob Guido portray "the audience."

Becky Hanchar, Bob Guido, and Jennifer Wright concentrate intently while Head Wench Laura Kern quietly cleans up dinner.

The Chorus Keeps Singing

The Fall Chorus Concert is always a scary time because it is the first concert of the year. The concert was a success and it gave the chorus confidence. Amy , a student teacher, plays the piano for part of the concert.

The chorus went to St. Louis this spring. They sang at a contest and they did very well. Their concert consisted of "Babylon" by Darius Milhaud, "The Lobster Quadrille" by Irving Fine, and "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" by Johannes Brahms. The students had a very educational as well as a fun time.

The chorus officers this year were Rhett Suhre, president; and Krista Conley, secretary. Rhett and Krista did a wonderful job this year, and they pass on their duties to Greg Liestman, president; and Angela Smith, secretary, for next year.

Oops!! Andy is caught talking again!

Mr. Wenzel gives some good directions during one of the rehearsals of the chorus.

The girls chorus is dedicated as they work on the difficult "Daniel Pinkham Wedding Cantata."

Miss Kara Tiffin, one of the student teachers this year, plays the piano for the chorus in one of their rehearsal.

Marching Sages

This year's marching band looked and sounded differently. The band, directed by Bill Haworth and Jim Holmes, faced many new changes and challenges.

Among the new ideas was the use of three drum majors instead of one. The band also played only two musical selections and marched a very difficult drill. The music selected was "A Night On Bald Mountain" by Moussorgsky and "The 1812 Overture" by Tchaikowsky.

Since the band had a style different than any other band, they had a very difficult but successful season. Among the awards the band received was the "Overall Grand Championship" at the "Viking Invitational" in Danville. The Sages also placed second in their class at the U of I Marching Band Festival.

The drum line has always been noted as a fine precision unit. They display the skill that gave them their reputation.

Melissa Reidel was this year's "Captain of the Guard."

One of the duties of a band director is to walk along the parade route with the band. Mr. Holmes seems to be a little anxious as the band stops during a parade competition.

Each year a drum line leader is chosen. This year Bill Kallembach was chosen because of his skill and leadership.

Face Changes

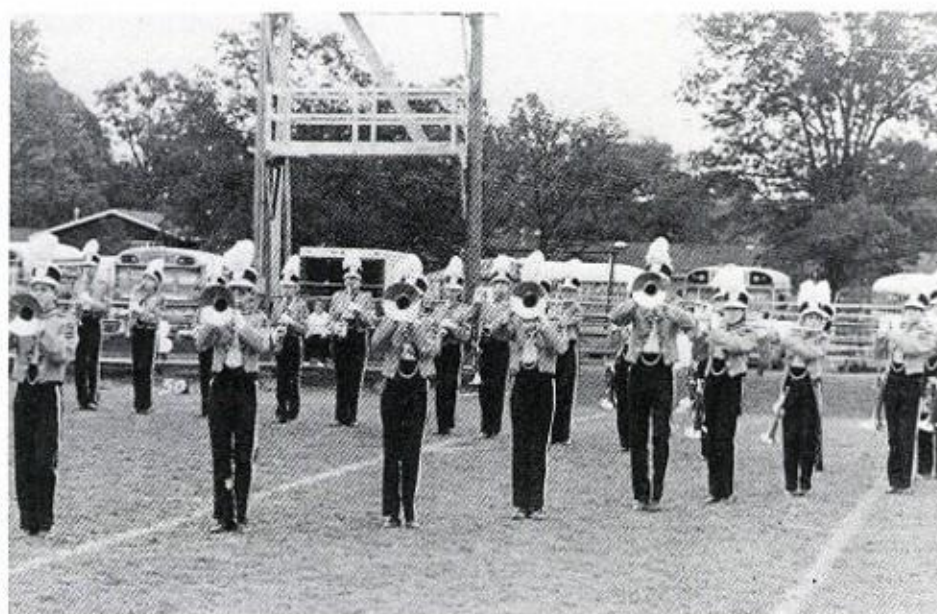

Chaperones play a very important role in keeping things running smoothly. Mrs. Rowe discusses upcoming events with Mr. Haworth.

Bob Hawkins seems to be in deep concentration as he plays the parade selection "New World Symphony."

Marilyn Boland, Susan Yates, Amy Clark, and Carol Erickson help to entertain the crowd during a parade.

The Marching Sages had a very difficult drill routine this year. Part of the group moves into a new formation.

The guard has been ranked among the best in the nation. Stacey Wetherell, Lynley Chumbley, Sherrie Trimble, and Theresa Guenther demonstrate their skills.

The drum majors and captain do a ripple effect salute. Melissa Reidel, Mark Rowe, Rhett Suhre, and Jeff Revell served as this year's field leaders.

Concert Band

Concert Band is the time right after marching band. The students are divided into two performing concert bands. The students are given music to play at their audition, where they are judged on their playing ability. Once everyone has tried out, the instructors announce the results. Some students will be in the Symphonic Wind Ensemble, and some will be in the Concert Band.

The director of the Symphonic Wind Ensemble is Mr. Jim Holmes. The director of the Concert Band is Mr. Larry Stoner.

The concert bands worked very hard throughout the year, and their hard work showed in their various concerts.

This year's band officers were Rhett Suhre, president; and Mark Rowe, vice-president.

Sports

Volleyball Team

The 1984 girls volleyball season ended after 12 wins and 10 losses.

Tamara Davis was named to the first team "all-conference" and set a career record for attacking percentage. This earned her the "best offensive player" award for this year's team.

Trina Costello, who was named second team "all-conference," also broke season and career records in attacking and blocking, earning for her the award for "best defensive player."

Amy Heitz was named "honorable mention all-conference" and recognized as "most improved."

Tami Brandt had the "top serving percentage" which enabled her to break a season record with 100% serving in consecutive matches.

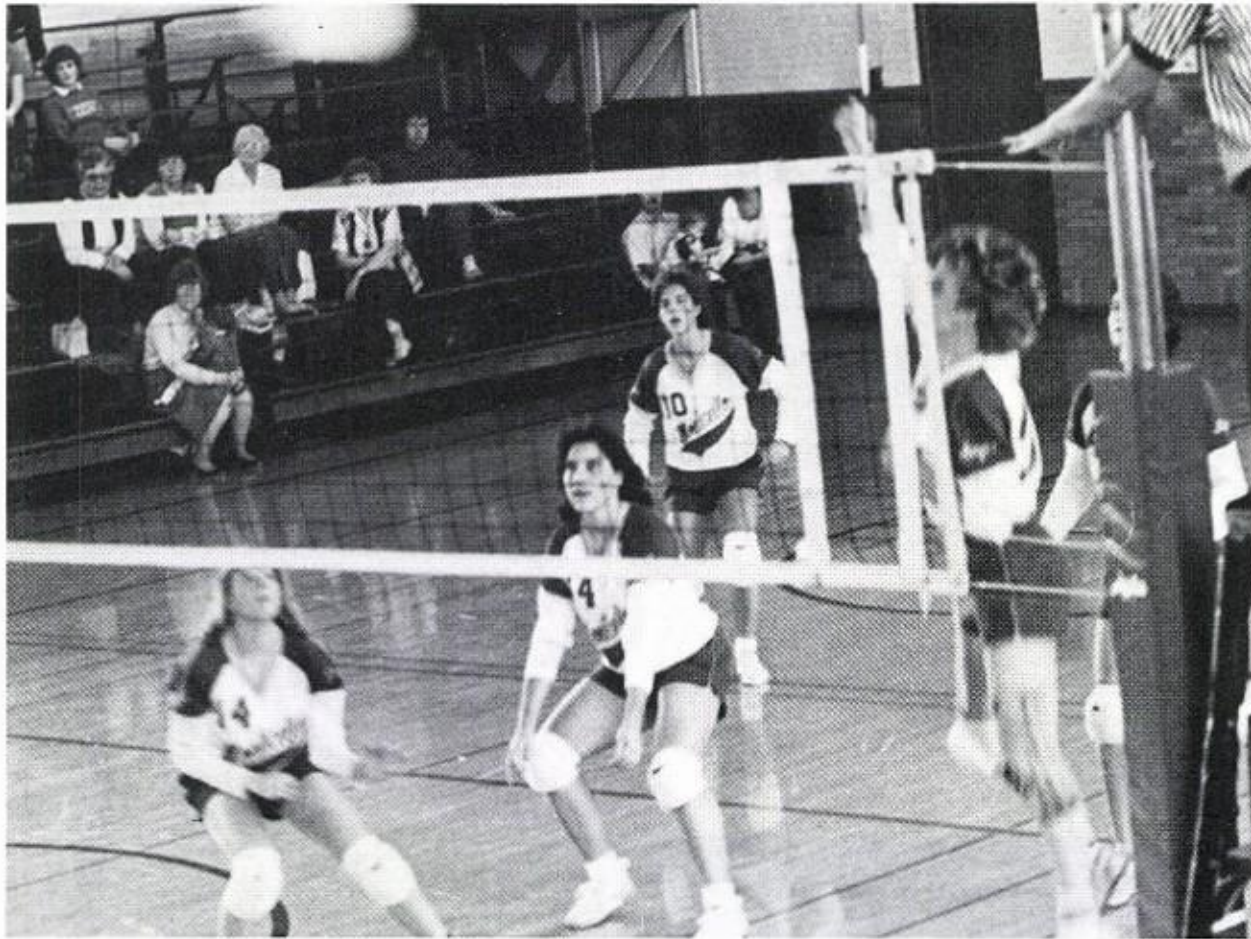

Trina Costello, named 2nd team all-okaw and this year's "best defensive player," makes a nice pass to an unseen setter as teammates Tamara Davis, Tami Brandt, Lindsey Boman, and Kim Crotinger look on anxiously.

Eric Olsen named MVP

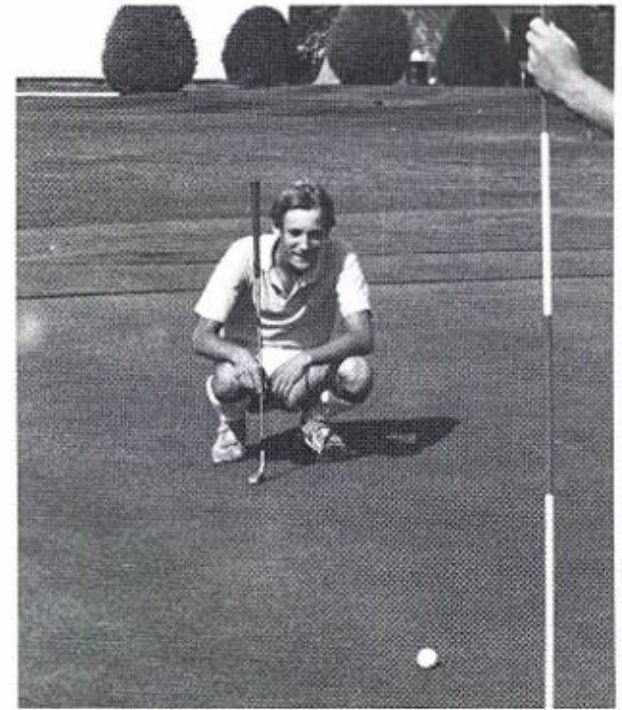

The Monticello High School golf team ended the season with a 4-12-1 record. The Sages placed 4th out of 9 teams in the regional this year.

The Sages were led by Juniors Eric Olsen, Craig Carr, John Kern and Sophomore Chris Dubson with respective 9-hole averages of 43.7, 44.1, 45.6, and 45.9.

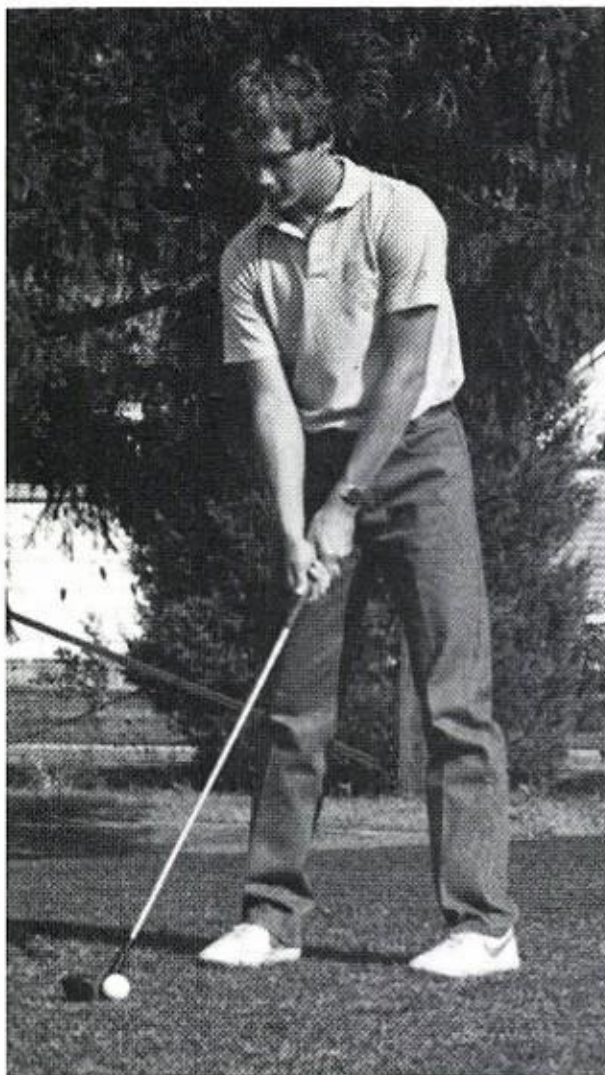

Letter winners included Eric Olsen, Craig Carr, John Kern, Chris Dubson and Todd Scheuermann. Spencer Atkins, Paul Gibbs, Ric Blankenburg and Craig Dempsey were the next 4 best players. Other squad members included Juniors: John Correll and Roger Buckley, Sophomores: Steve Grant and Doug Lins, and Freshman: Steve Parsons.

Special team awards went to Eric Olsen who was named "Most Valuable Player" as well as "Most Improved." Olsen was also tied for 8th in the Regional individually. This year's team captain was Craig Carr.

Harriers Advance

This year's Cross Country team advanced to the sectional meet and ended the 1984 season with an impressive 11-4 dual meet record.

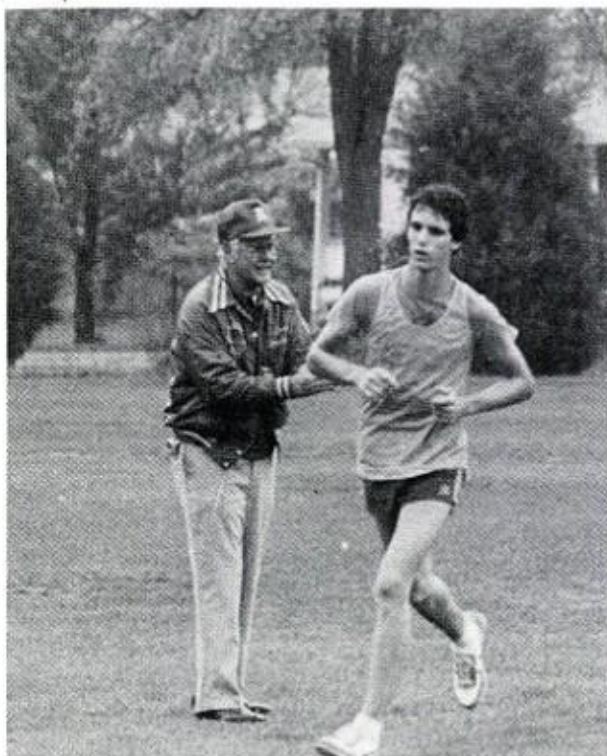

Seniors on the team this year included David Randall, Mike Tracy, and Todd Atkins. Juniors were Frank Quinn, Mike Dixon, Mark Tracy, and Betha Miller. Scott Dempsey was the only sophomore and the freshmen were David Crockett, John Trippiedi, and Chad Hertz. The team was coached by Mr. Gene Stratman.

Letter winners this year were David Randall, Mike Tracy, Todd Atkins, Frank Quinn, Michael Dixon, Scott Dempsey, Chad Hertz, David Crockett, and Betha Miller.

Frank Quinn was named "MVP," Michael Dixon was elected Captain, and Todd Atkins was selected "Most Improved."

The beginning of a meet can play a big part in determining the finish. Michael Dixon, David Crockett, David Randall, Scott Dempsey, and Chad Hertz try to get good position at the start of the Okaw Conference meet.

Being a good runner and a leader are certainly characteristics a team likes to have in its captain. Michael Dixon served as this year's captain and more than filled those necessary requirements.

Betha Miller, the only girl on the team this year, has lettered for the Sages the past two years.

Frank Quinn shows the strain of running 3 miles as this year's "Most Valuable Runner" crosses the finish line.

Sage Gridders Finish

The 1984 Monticello Football squad finished with a plus .500 record for the eighth straight season with 5 wins and 4 losses.

Six Sage gridders made the Okaw All-Conference team. Those honored to the first team were "defensive tackle" Randy Ivall, "defensive back" Rob Tarter, "kicker and running back" Thad Trimble, "linebacker and fullback" Mark Shapland, "offensive guard" Jeff Erickson, and "offensive tackle" Tim Foran.

This year's special award winners included Brian McCall as "most improved," Rhett Suhre as "best lineman," Mark Shapland as "best back," and Herbie Wittig as "best on special team."

The tri-captains on this year's team were Seniors Mike Puckett, Mark Shapland, and Rob Tarter.

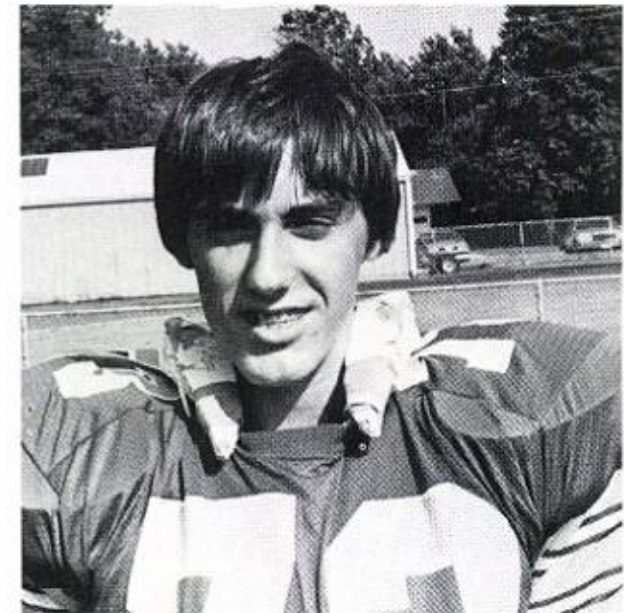

The Sophomore squad finished with a 5-3 record, while the freshmen ended at 4-3 overall.

The Sages strong defensive line was led by Rhett Suhre, Tim Foran, and Tim Wait as they gang tackle an opponent.

The offense certainly wouldn't have been successful without "all-conference offensive guard" Jeff Erickson.

"All-conference defensive tackle" Randy Ivall was one of the team's leading tacklers all season.

Coach Brad Miller discusses defensive strategy with his squad during a time out on the field.

Grapplers Continue

The Monticello Sages' varsity grapplers continued their winning tradition as they posted a 12-9 dual meet record under new head coach Larry Albaugh. It should also be noted that almost half of their losses came from Class AA competition.

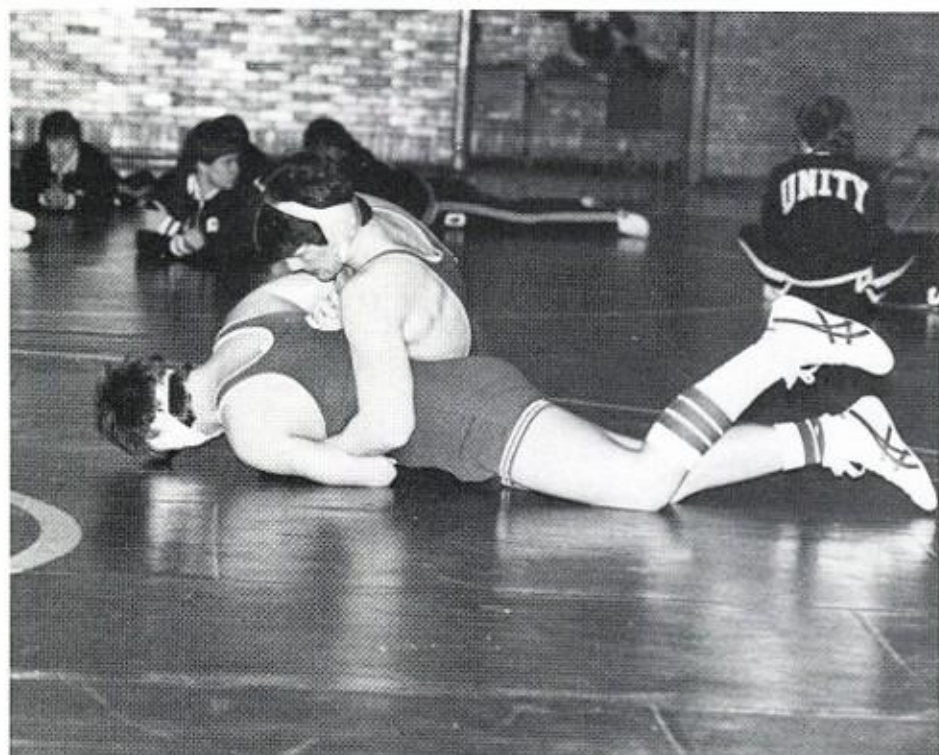

Lettermen this season included Billy Bailey, Jeff Erickson, Kerry McCorkle, Randy Mitsdarffer, Rhett Suhre, David Lochbaum, Ron Nixon, Mark Tracy, Jamie Puckett and Todd Strohl.

Jeff Erickson was named this year's "Most Improved" wrestler and Randy Mitsdarffer was voted "co-captain," but senior Rhett Suhre walked off with most of the year's honors.

Suhre was named as co-captain in addition to being selected as the team's "Most Valuable Wrestler" and winning the awards for 'Most Takedowns' and 'Most Pins.'

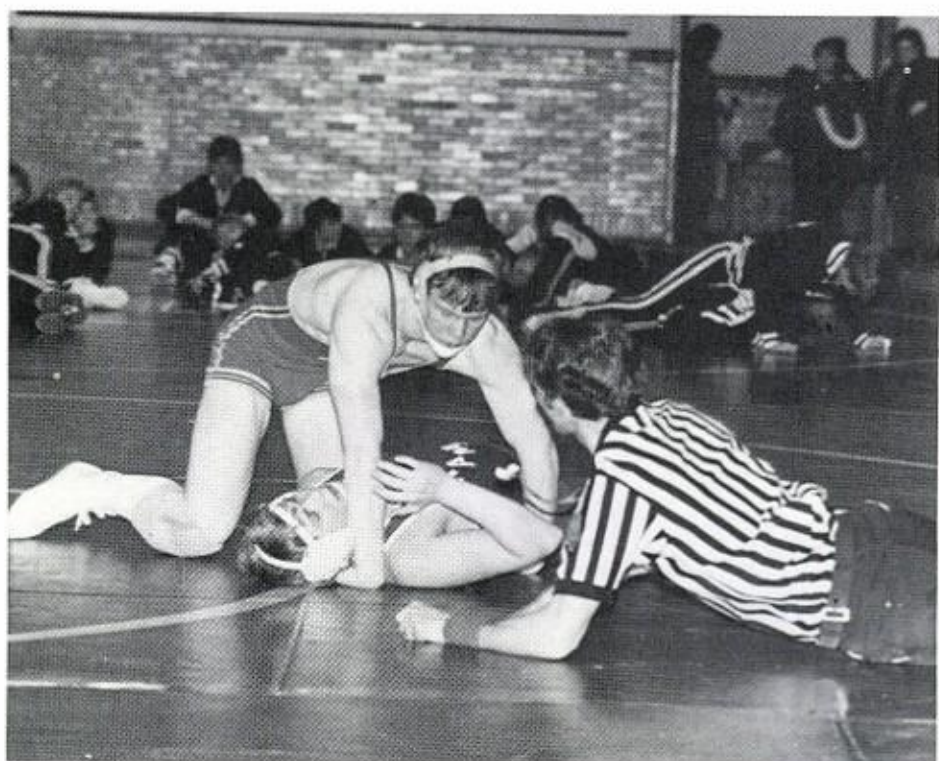

If the future continues under coach Albaugh along the same successful lines as the results of his first season would indicate, Monticello will continue its strong tradition into the future!

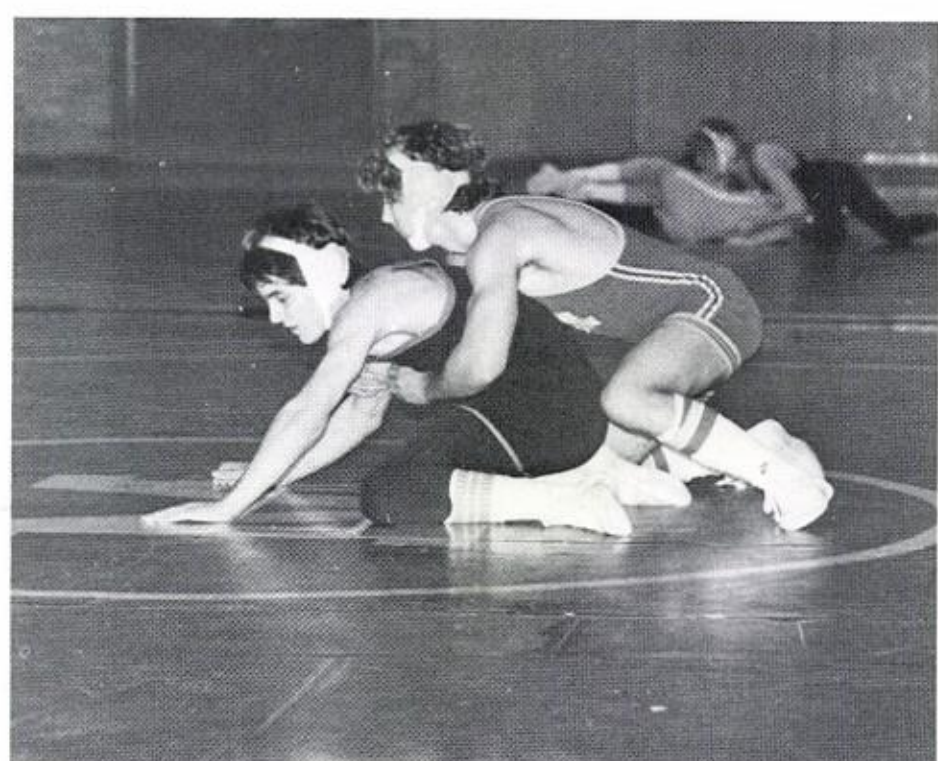

Senior Rhett Suhre, this year's Most Valuable Wrestler and team leader in pins and takedowns, confidently maneuvers towards a victory.

Lady Sages Continue

The Monticello Lady Sages continued their winning tradition this year with a 12-9 won-loss record.

With what was a primarily underclass squad this season, they can also look forward to continued success in the future.

Junior Trina Costello received recognition this year as an all-conference selection and was named the team's MVP in addition to winning the team's freethrow award with a .680 percentage.

Other award winners included Becky Gass as the "most improved" player and Jodi Rowe was named Captain. Also, Lisa Blackburn and Becky Gass were named as all-conference "honorable mention" candidates for the 1984-1985 season and Trina Costello was selected to the 2nd team all-area.

Kim Crotinger was a ballhandler and outside shooting threat for the Sages this season.

Amy Hicks provided points, rebounds, and some added guard play at different positions.

Lisa Blackburn played point guard and basically ran the team's offense all year long.

All-conference and all-area standout Trina Costello gave the Sages size and scoring punch on offense and was the center of their strength in rebounding and defense as well.

Winning Tradition

Becky Gass was an offensive threat from the inside and provided much-needed rebounding inside.

Sages Capture

The Monticello Sages captured this year what will probably prove to be the last Okaw Valley Conference Basketball Championship as they finished the 1984-1985 season with only 1 conference loss, which they later avenged.

It seems only fitting that the Sages would capture this final title since it marks the 18th time in the history of this, one of the oldest conferences in the state, that they have won the championship — considerably more than any other competitor to have played in the Okaw Conference.

It also marks coach Bob Trimble's 7th Okaw Title as a Monticello coach, again more than any other coach in the conference's history.

The Sages finished the season with an impressive 18-8 record and became the best field-goal shooting team in the school's history, hitting .536 from the field.

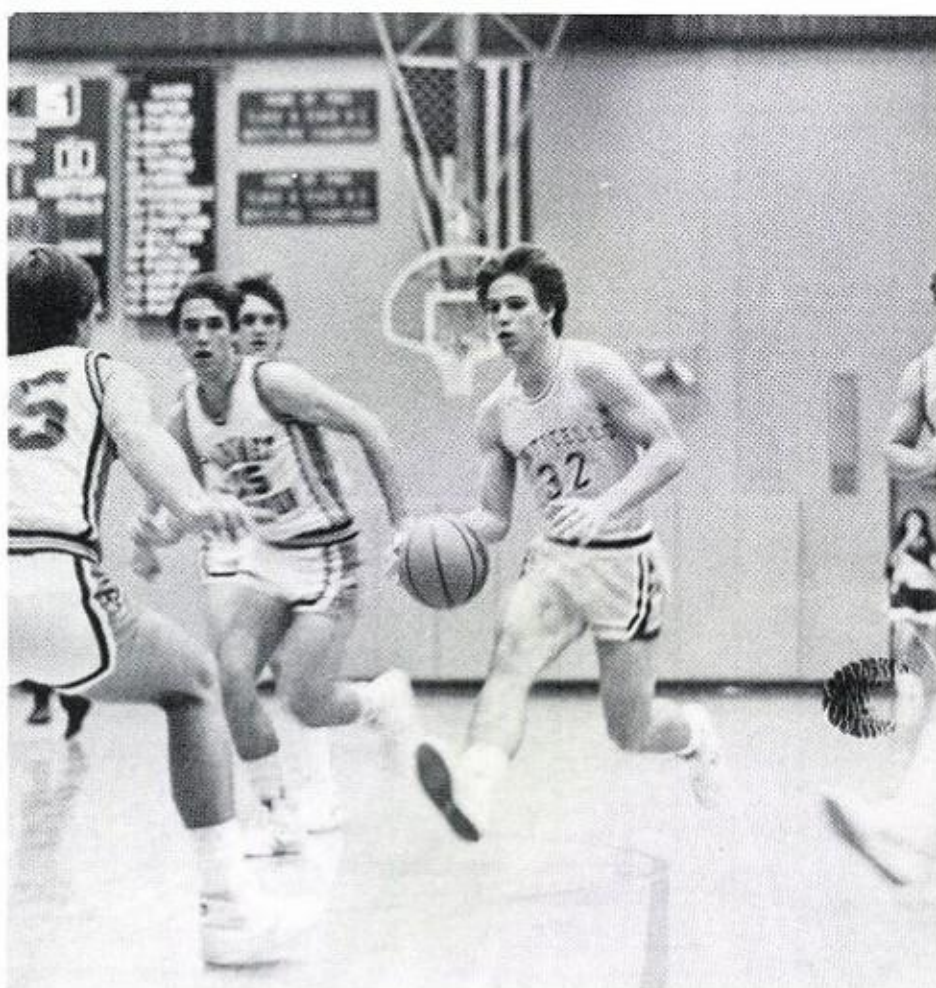

Monticello now looks forward to playing as an independent team in the future with no likely conference to align itself with. Wherever the Sages end up playing, you can rest assured that they will carry on their winning tradition!

Senior Thad Trimble became the 2nd all-time leading Sage scorer, was named MVP and co-captain, and voted #1 all-conference for the 2nd year in a row.

Senior Mike Puckett, at 6'7", towered over most opponents to average 17.5 points and 11.3 rebounds enroute to making the all-conference 1st team.

Senior Mark Shapland, this year's defensive award winner, also played at both a guard and forward position and contributed in a variety of ways.

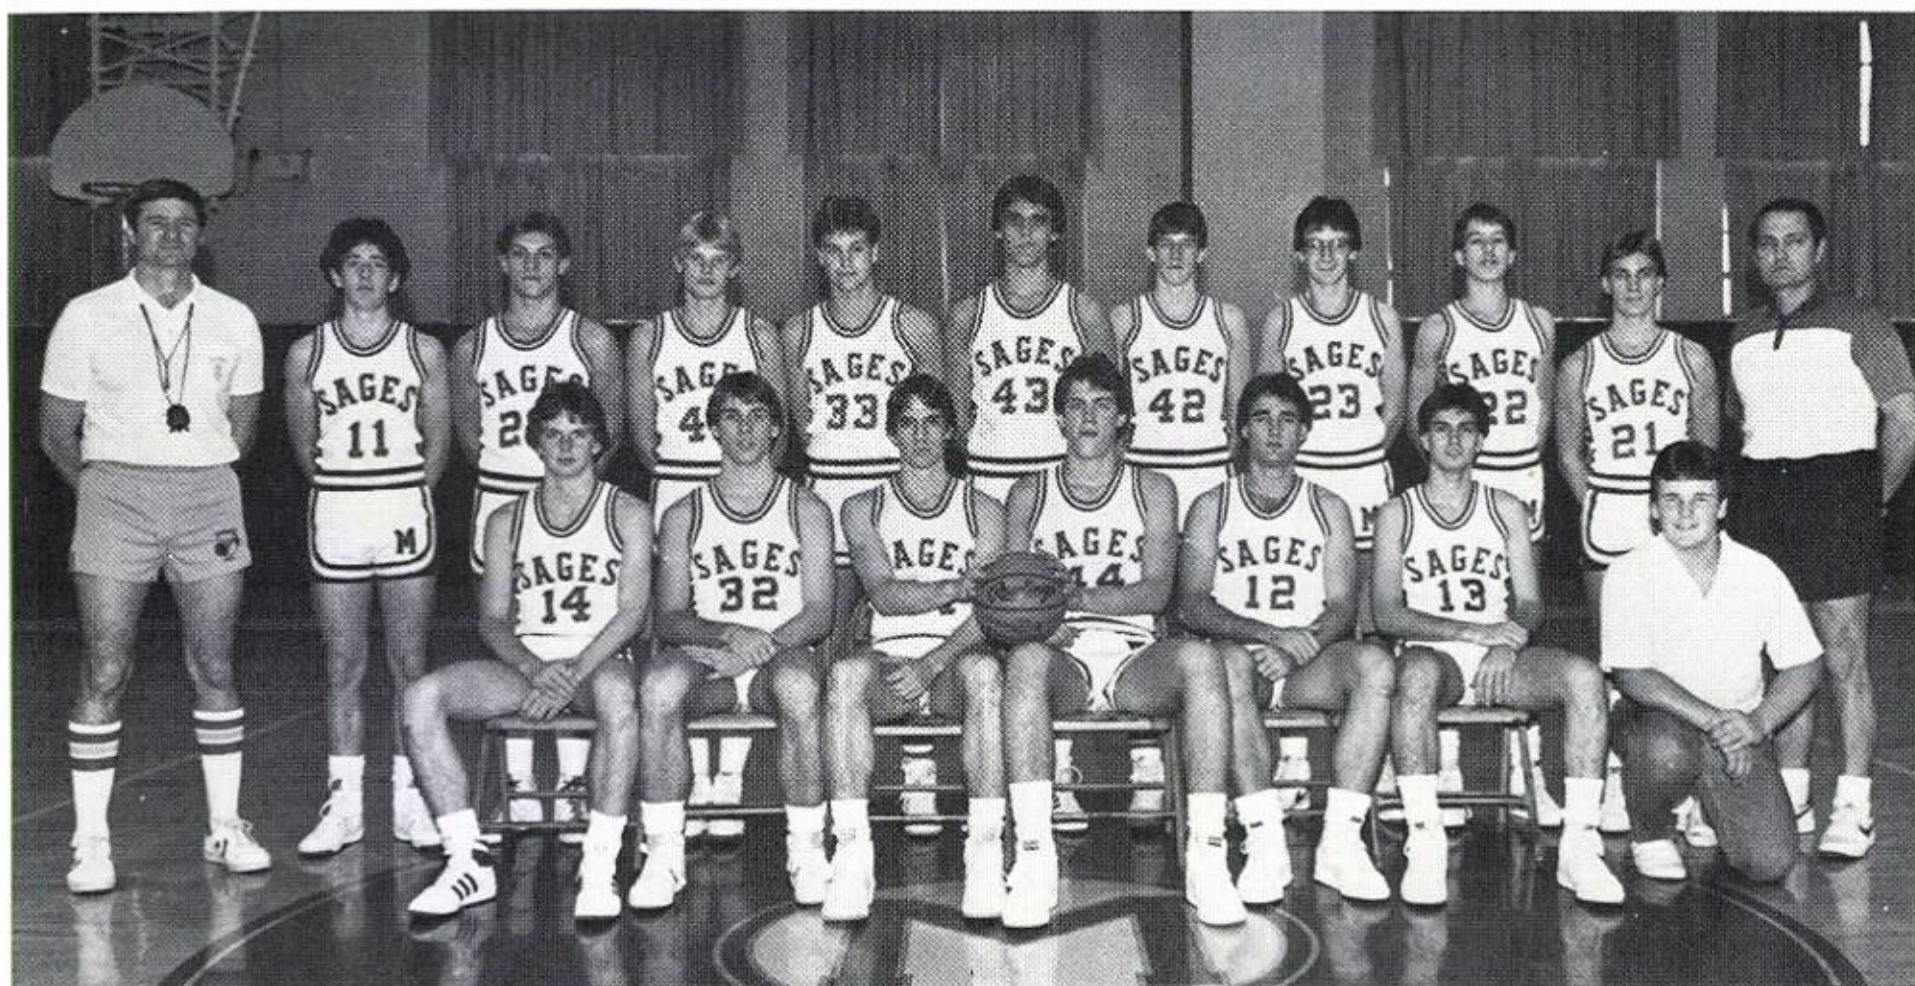

Final Okaw Title

Brian McCall played inside for the Sages this year and his strength and sure touch put him 4th on the all-time field goal shooting list with a .617 percentage.

Sean Dalton served primarily as a playmaking guard and ball-handler for the Sages this year, but also won the freethrow championship at a .714 clip.

Bill Murphy, this year's "sixth man" contributed off the bench in some of the Sages' key wins.

Junior Richard Parrish came off the bench to help this year and will certainly contribute next season.

Sophomore Thad Stoeger saw limited action this year, but will play a major role next season.

The Sage managers, coaches, fans, and statisticians watch the action intently during a conference clash against the perennially tough Spartans from St. Joseph-Ogden, one of the conference members who dropped out after this season.

MHS Softball Squad

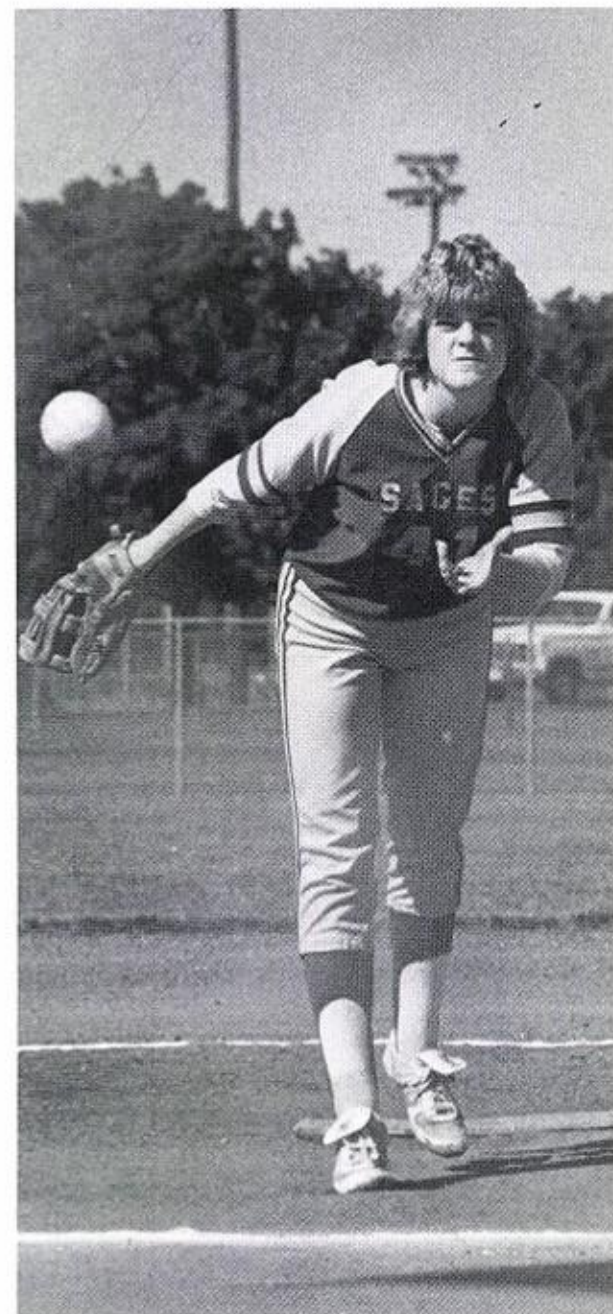

The Monticello Sages' girl's softball squad captured the 2nd Regional softball title in the history of the school this year by defeating Macon by a score of 8-2.

The only other Regional championship came back in 1978.

Although winning only 10 games this season while losing 11, the Regional championship made it a highly successful year and pointed towards considerable improvement towards the end of the season, cause for much optimism looking forward to next year.

The team's season came to an end in Sectional play where they were knocked off in the first round by a fine St. Joe-Ogden squad, 8-1. St. Joe went on to win the Sectional and advanced to state play-off competition.

Angela Smith, one of the Sages' top pitchers, grimaces with determination as she lets loose.

Coaches Heidkamp and Blacker talk over strategy during the Sectional win over Macon.

Tammy Browning digs in and snaps her wrists as she follows through for a base hit.

Special award winners included Shelly Thomas as most improved and best fielder, Tammy Browning as the stolen base leader, Kim Crotinger as MVP, and Tamara Davis as the top hitter.

Baseball Sages

The Monticello Sages 1985 baseball squad tied for the Okaw Conference baseball championship with St. Joe-Ogden en-route to a record-breaking season in which they won 15 games, 1 more than the old season record.

The 15-8 record eclipsed the old mark of 14 wins set back in 1983 as the Sages advanced to the finals of Regional competition before being ousted from the IHSA competition by Maroa-Forsyth in the championship game by a 5-3 margin.

Tim Foran was named to the first team all conference squad for the Sages and Craig Wesley, Larry Brown, and Todd Leischner were named honorable mention.

Coach Les Swartzentraub certainly proved successful in his first year at the helm.

Todd Leischner makes the high grab for the putout at first base as Sage catcher Craig Carr hustles down the baseline to back up the play.

David Lochbaum swings through the pitch with his eye on the ball for an easy base hit.

Special award winners for the Sages included Larry Brown and Tim Foran as co-captains, Craig Carr as MVP, Don Hastings as co-captain, Craig Wesley as most improved, and Jerry Wileaver for best earned run average.

Underclassmen Lead

This year's girl's track squad was composed of underclassmen who should lead Monticello to success in the near future.

Special award winners included Beth Warren, Lisa Blackburn, Carol Erickson, and Amy Heitz.

What the squad lacked in numbers, it certainly made up for in spirit and enthusiasm. The combination of youth and talent should provide a solid nucleus around which to build a very good track squad next season.

Track is a sport which requires considerable dedication and hard work and these young ladies certainly gave it their all this year and will be even better next year.

Hurdler Jodi Dean exhibits the form and grace that made her one of the outstanding hurdlers in the conference this season and made her a valuable asset to this year's squad.

Junior Beth Warren worked hard to become one of the best shot-putters around this year.

Special award winners included junior Beth Warren for field events, junior Lisa Blackburn for track events, sophomore Carol Erickson as "Most Improved" and Amy Heitz for most overall points scored.

Lady Tracksters

Hard work and dedication paid off for sophomore Carol Erickson in the grueling distance events.

Sprinters Lisa Blackburn and Lori Wright provided the nucleus of many of this year's relay teams and added more points in each of the sprint events.

Sage Trackmen

The Monticello Sages' track squad, always a tough group of individuals, proved again to be one of the best teams in the area.

Although finishing only 3rd in the Okaw Conference meet, the Sages placed highly at both the St. Joe Spartan Classic and the Unity Invitational, two of the best small-school meets in the area each year.

Senior Thad Trimble was an area standout in the sprints and the discus and was named the outstanding competitor at the St. Joe Classic in addition to placing 5th in the state in the discus.

Another noteworthy individual performance came from sophomore Thad Stoerger, who set a school record in the high jump at 6'4½".

With 21 underclassmen winning a letter this season, certainly the Sages will be just as good or better next season. Seniors Craig Lins, David Logan, Brian McCall and Thad Trimble will be missed, but the Sages will always be tough!

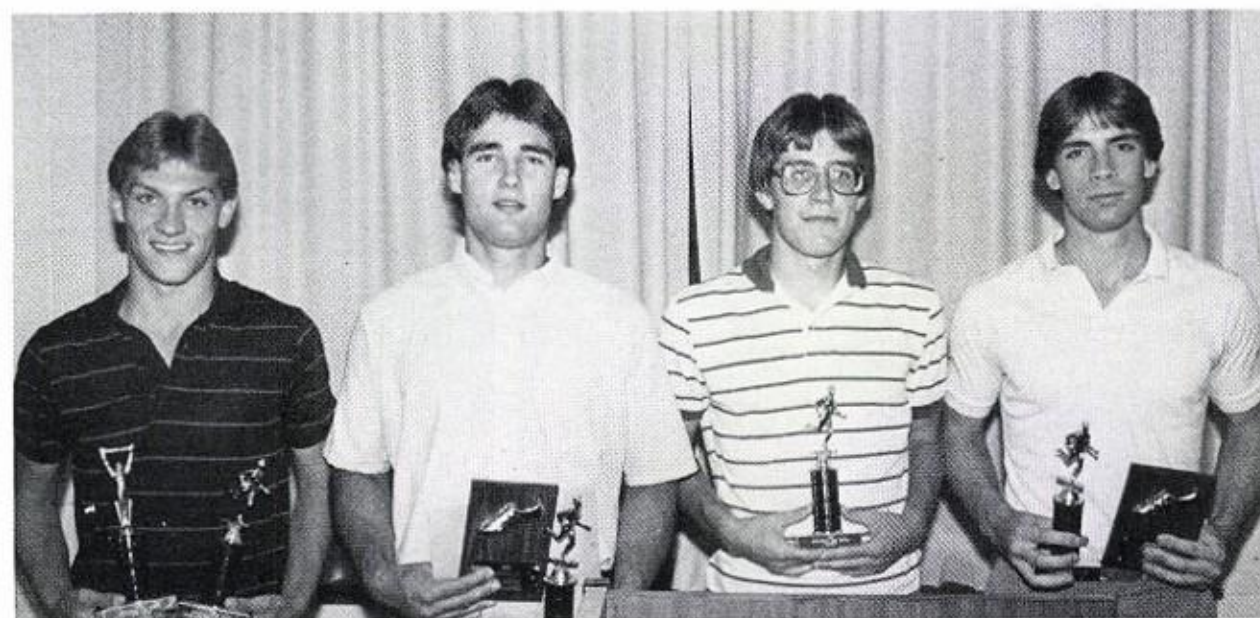

Junior Frank Quinn, one of the Sages' best distance runners, shows the stress of a 2-mile race.

Sprinter/High Jumper Thad Stoerger strains to cross the finish line ahead of a St. Joe-Ogden opponent.

Sophomore Scott Dempsey was one of the area leaders in his specialty, the 800 meter run.

Special award winners included Thad Stoerger for most varsity points by a frosh/soph, Thad Trimble for the track award and MVP, Craig Lins as co-captain, and Brian McCall as co-captain.

Always Tough

Sophomore Mike Strack was the Sages' best hurdler and pole vaulter this season.

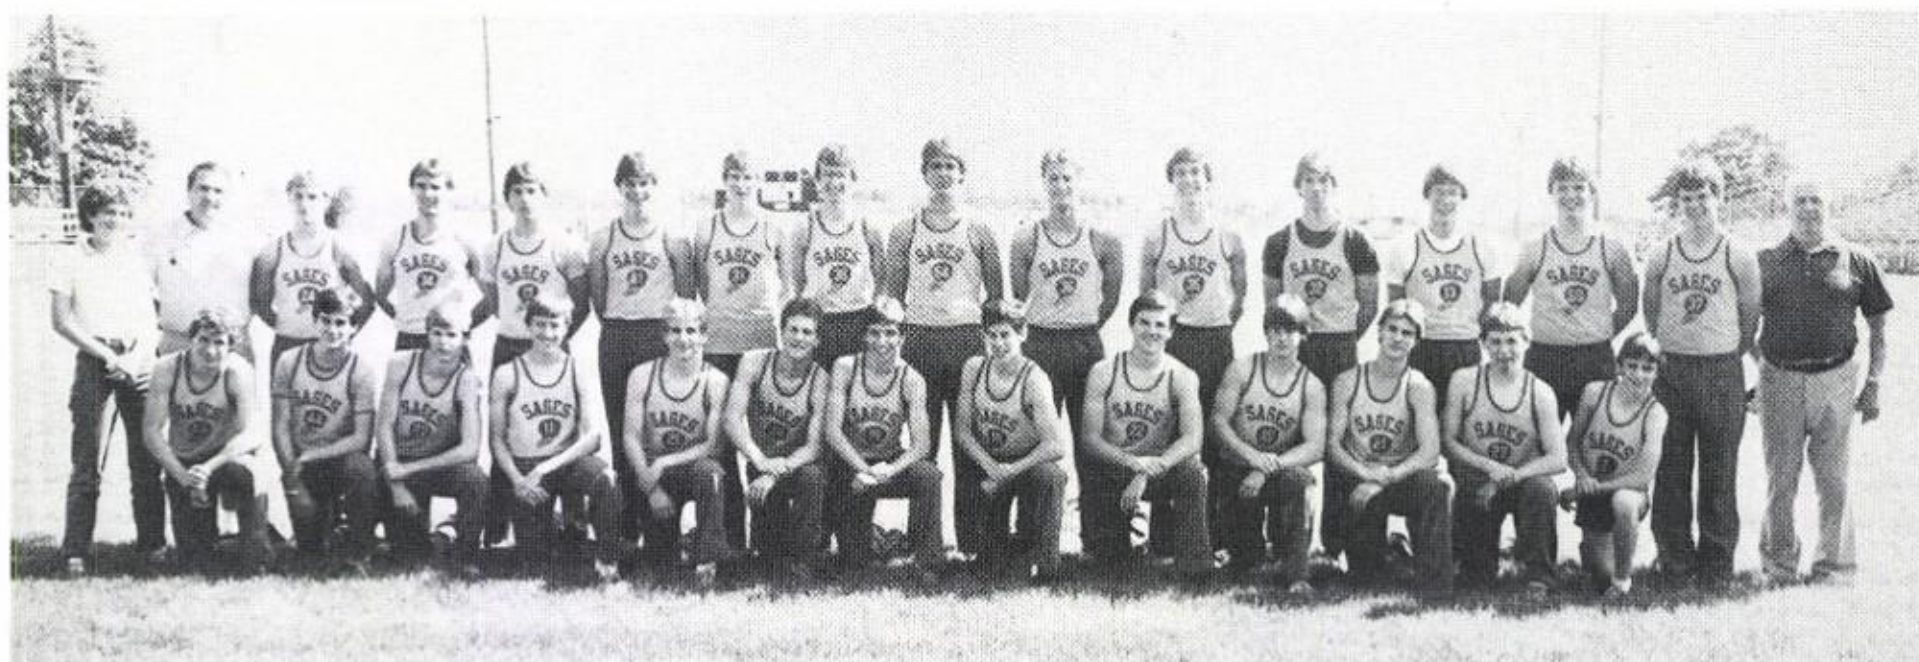

Freshman Chad Trimble triple-jumped his way to a varsity letter in his rookie season with the Sages.

Senior Thad Trimble, one of the area's leading sprinters all season, leads a contingent of Monticello sprinters which include Jamie Maxwell, Jeremy Boman, Todd Tackett, and Chris Duncan.

Coaches Bob Trimble and Les Gadbury intently observe one of the many events during a chilly spring track meet.

Let's Get "Rowdie"

This was a year of changes. It was the first year for a junior "Sammy Sage" Jennifer Revell. The Varsity squad changed the camp they attended in the summer and went to Eastern Illinois University. They received many new ideas which were incorporated into the pep rallies. Some of these ideas included the banana eating contest and the balloon shaving contest.

Cheerleading is a lot of fun, but it also takes a considerable amount of dedication and hard work. The Varsity and J.V. squads, which are elected in the spring, practice over the summer. The freshman squad, elected in the spring, joins the other squads in practices every Wednesday.

Cheerleaders must also maintain a "C" average which is checked weekly by Mrs. Davis, the cheerleading sponsor.

Paul Schonert was captain of the varsity squad. This position is an honor, but it also entails hard work.

The 1984-85 Varsity squad. Renee Oleson, Jodi Dean, Paula Schonert, Melissa Reidel, Kelly Brown, and Lindsey Boman.

Sammy Sage (Jennifer Revell) is introduced at the fall "kickoff" banquet.

The J.V. squad included, top to bottom: Joanna Brown, Tracy Thomas, Angela Smith, Stacy Thomas, Paula Hyatt, and Amy Hicks.

The freshman squad. Bottom: Jennifer Lentz and Denise Downey. Sides: Jenna Whetstone and Melissa Leach. Top: Kristen Buckley and Wendy Marsh.

Sometimes it's not easy to smile. Lindsey Boman is obviously frustrated, but not happy!

Renee Oleson shows her spirit as well as her jumping skills during a cheer.

Jodi Dean and Paula Schonert hold Melissa Reidel carefully in a lofty position.

The J.V. squad stands at attention before beginning a cheer.

Great friendships sometimes start in cheerleading. Denise Downey and Kristen Buckley are apparently discussing something interesting.

Events

Student Theatre Succeeds

The Thespians at Monticello High School produced another successful play this year. The play, however, was a student production. Every two years the students put on a production which is cast, directed, and performed entirely by students.

This year the director was Jami White and the producer was Laura Kern. The assistant director was Jennifer Ross and the assistant producer was Amy Craig. The latter two will be the director and producer in two more years.

The play chosen by Jami this year was a musical ANNIE GET YOUR GUN is a famous Broadway musical featuring songs such as, "There's No Business Like Show Business" and "Doing What Comes Naturally."

The story opens outside Mr. Wilson's (Philip Kleven) Hotel with Charlie Davenport (David Logan) and Dolly Tate (Paula Schonert) introducing Buffalo Bill's (Greg Liestman) Show.

The main attraction of the Buffalo Bill Show is Frank Butler, a sharpshooter. The cast ends up in a real dilemma when Annie Oakley (Dawn Orr), a girl from Darke County, shows up. This girl can shoot a gun just as well as Frank Butler (David Randall).

These two meet in a shooting match and Annie beats Frank by one shot. She is put into the show as Frank's assistant and not only tries to impress him with tricks, she also happens to fall in love with him! Unfortunately, she shows him up as a shooting expert and he leaves the show and joins up with Buffalo Bill's competitor, Pawnee Bill (Michael Dick). Soon both shows go bankrupt and the managers decide to merge their respective attractions.

It all makes for a lot of fun and laughter for the audience and the cast.

Thespians Develop Skills

The spring play presented this year was SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY, written by Edgar Lee Masters. All the characters in this play are dead. Each character delivers their own epitaph, discovering and confessing the real motivation of their lives. Each character reveals the secret steps that stumbled them to failure or raised them to illusionary triumphs while alive.

This play was unusual in form as each member of the cast delivered more than one character's message. The play was different than any other produced in the past few years. It gave the student an opportunity to develop skills in poetic interpretation and in delivery of a dramatical soliloquy.

David Logan and Andy Heckman stand frozen on stage, after reading, while Greg Liestman delivers the profound message of his character.

Pat Johnson, Jami White, and Jenifer Ross seem to be concentrating on giving a perfect performance.

Stage Show

Stage Show was once again a success. Every year since it originated, Stage Show has been one of the biggest events of the school year and has improved each time. This year's show was no exception.

Many talented students, dedicated parents and teachers worked hard to be able to produce a show of this caliber. Since Stage Show is produced by the band and chorus, there are numerous instrumental and vocal solos and ensembles, but there are also many comedy acts.

This year the theme was "Together As One" taken from the song "We Are The World." This song was used for the finale along with "Fame."

Stage Show has developed a reputation for being an outstanding production and will continue as long as there are talented students at Monticello High School.

This quartet comprised of Tracy Thomas, Stephanie Bissey, Jennifer Ross, and Stacy Thomas sang "Daddy Sang Bass."

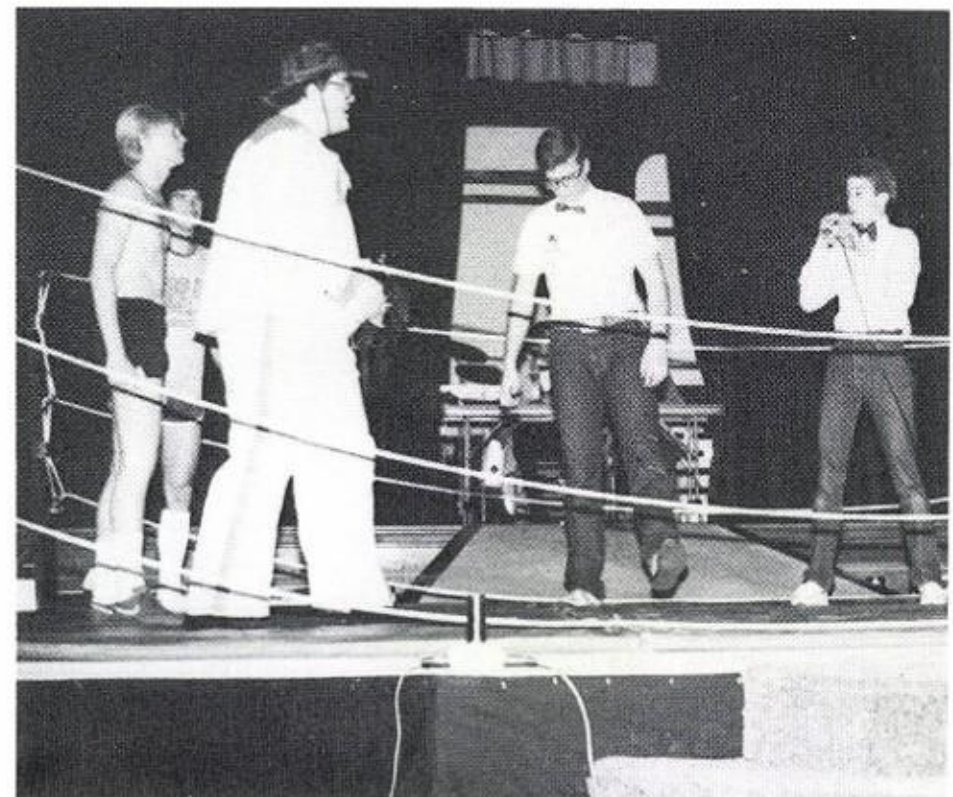

Melissa Reidel performed an exciting sabre routine.

Mike Brown played to the music of Chuck Mangione with "Feels So Good."

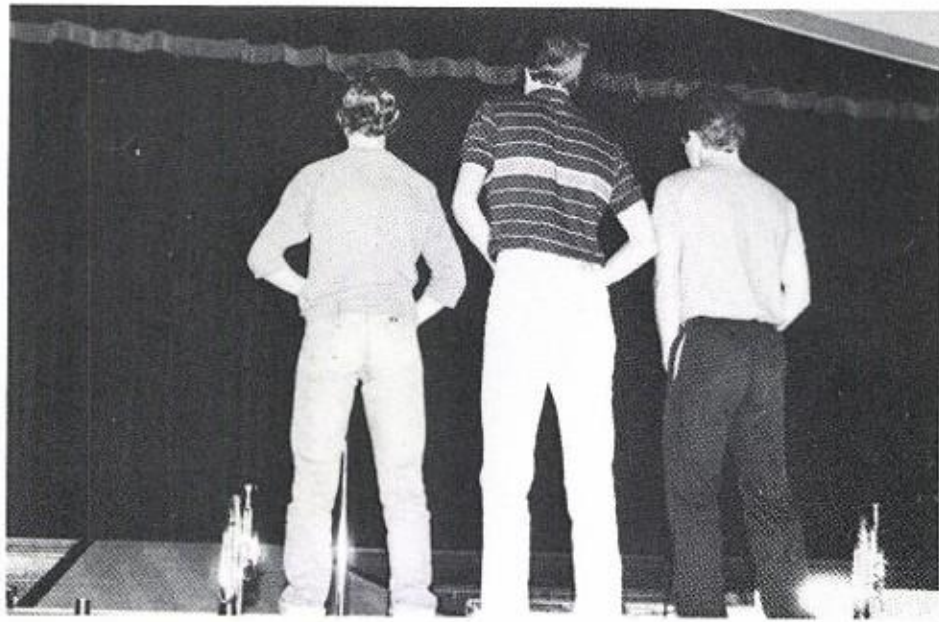

The boy's danceline is back! The boys show us their dancing abilities to "Shake Your Tail Feathers."

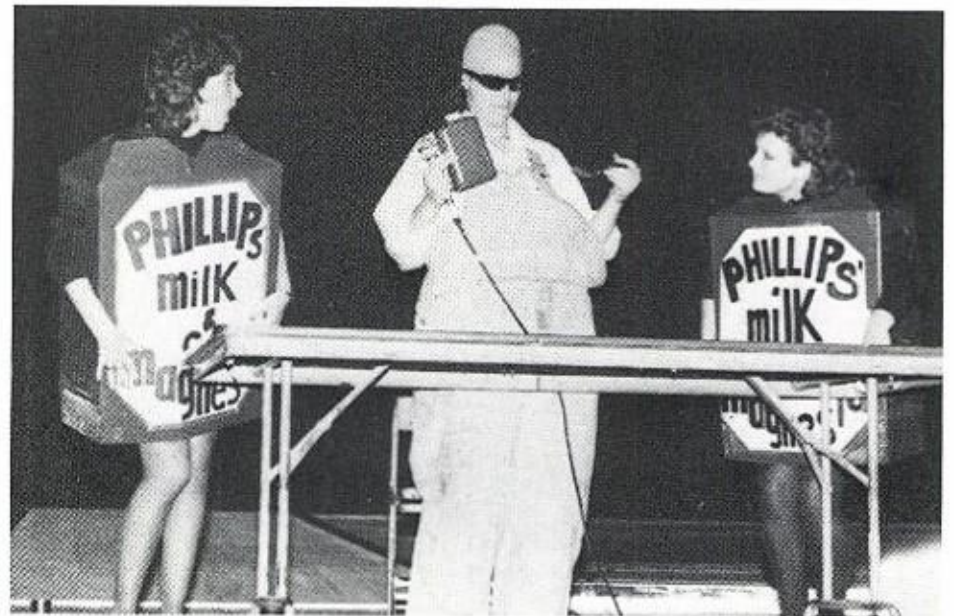

The Monticello Wrestling Federation gets under way with ring announcements by Ric Blankenburg while Craig Mackey, Andy Heckman, Richard Parrish, and David Lochbaum look on.

Is Big Event

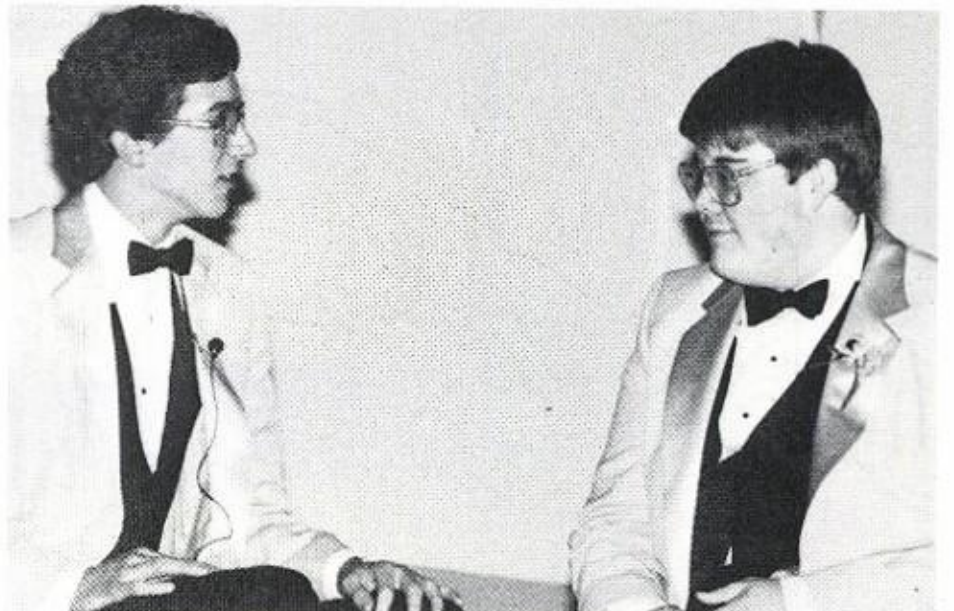

"Mary Had A Little Lamb" was played on the zippers of Doug Dalton, Frank Quinn, and Eric Williams.

Tricia Naughton, Tamara Davis, and Chris Bargman provided entertainment with their version of the Milk of Magnesia commercial.

Mark Rowe and Jeff Revell try their hand at comedy in the Lar and Bill show.

Greg Liestman and Andy Heckman reviewed acts throughout the evening as "Gene and Roger."

Jami White and Rhett Suhre had the honor of being this year's emcees.

The jazz band played many popular selections. The trumpet section is obviously getting into "Ghost Busters."

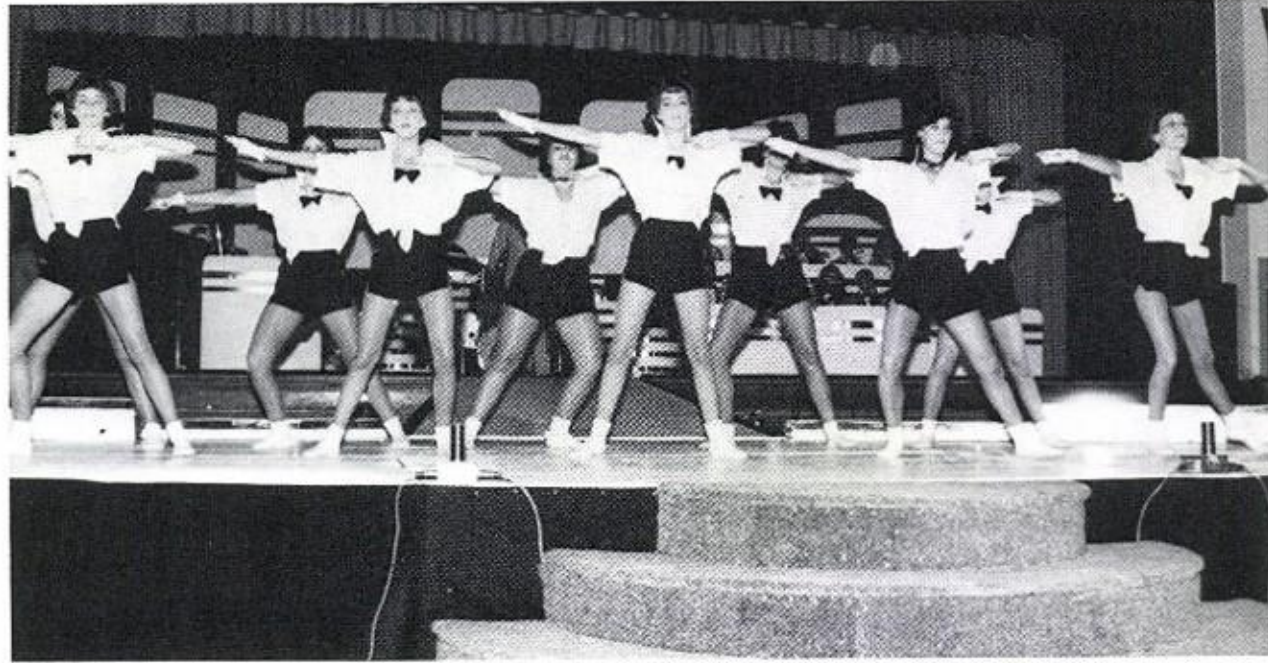

"We Are The World" was used as the finale.

Jennifer Wright shows her musical skill in her vocal solo.

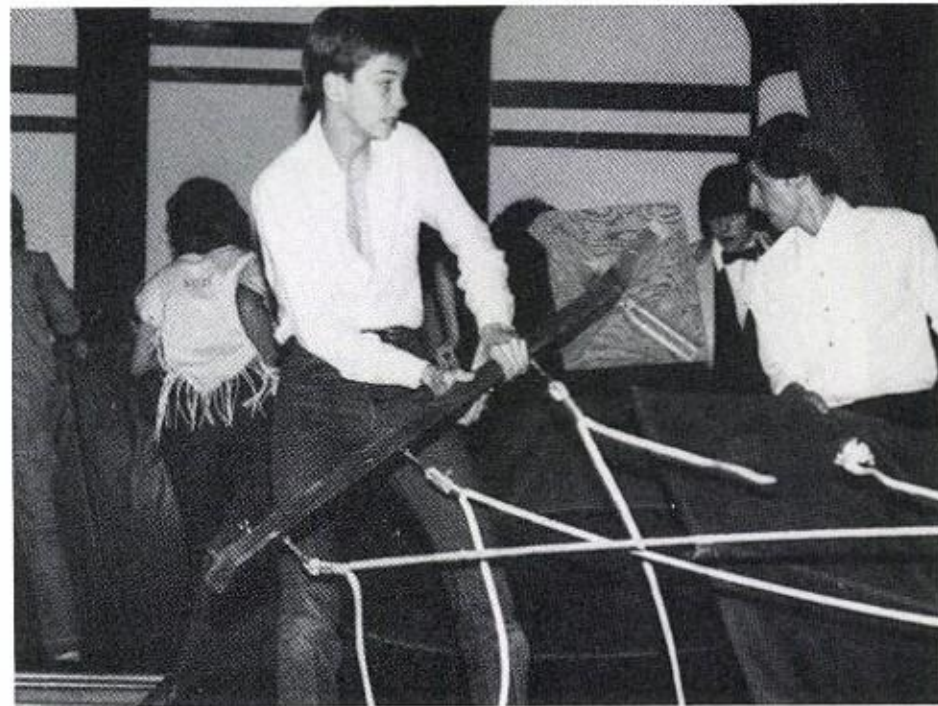

Rosemarye Matheney sang "Holding Out For A Hero" while a boy's danceline performed.

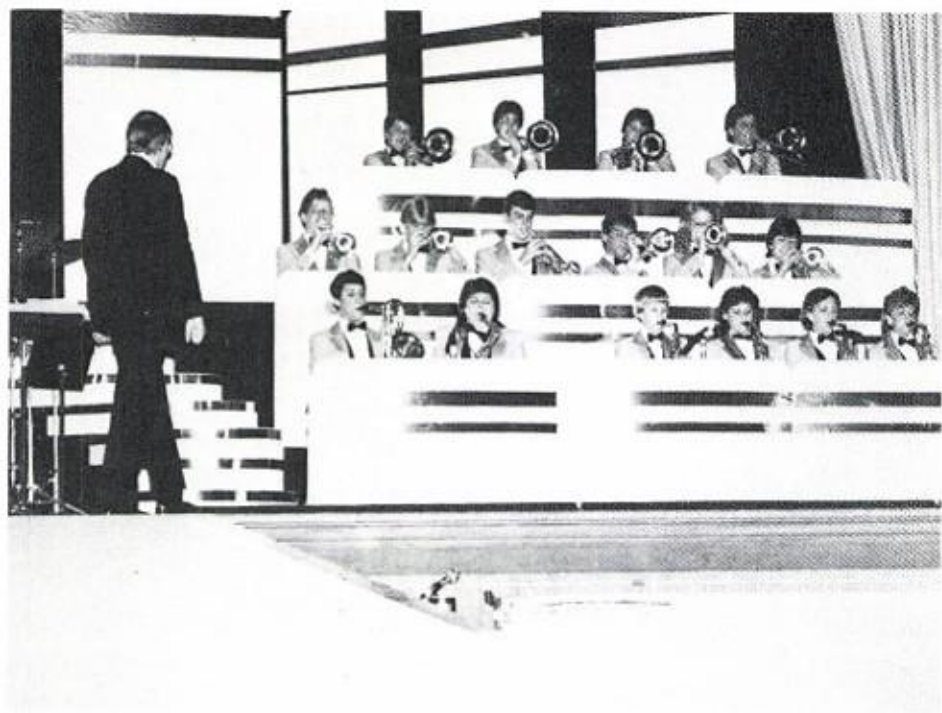

Dancelines also provide entertainment. This danceline danced to "I'm So Excited."

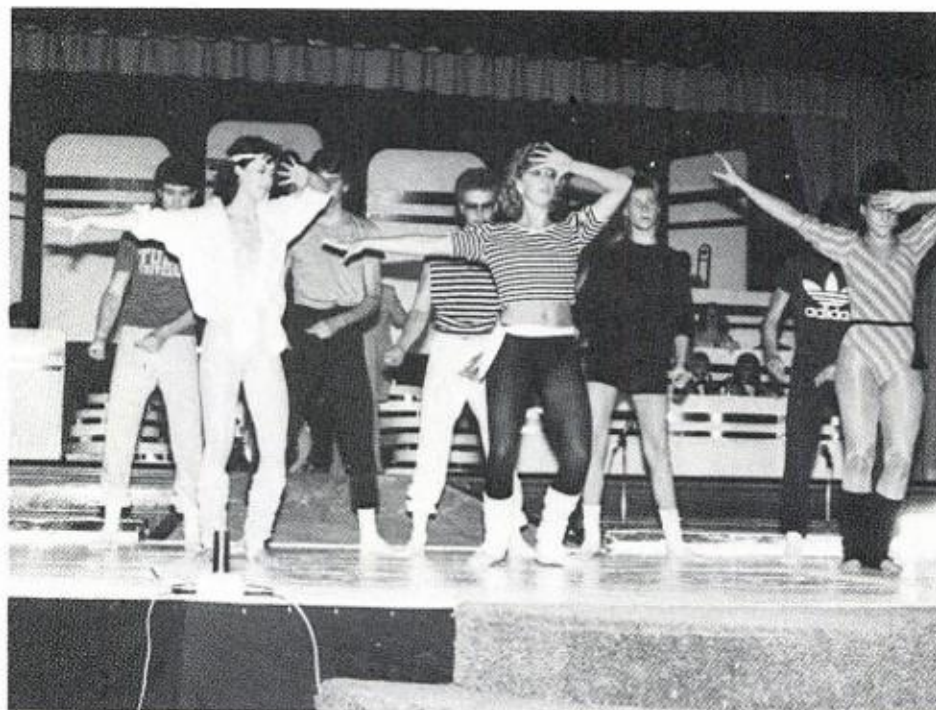

Paula Schonert sang "Bring In The Clowns" and was accompanied by the jazz band.

Ric Blankenburg and David Randall show the behind the scene work that makes Stage Show run so smoothly.

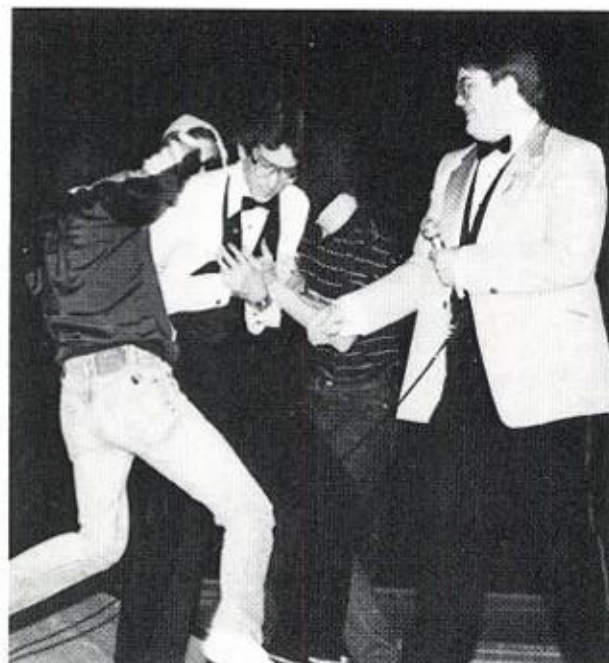

The jazz band provided musical entertainment throughout the evening.

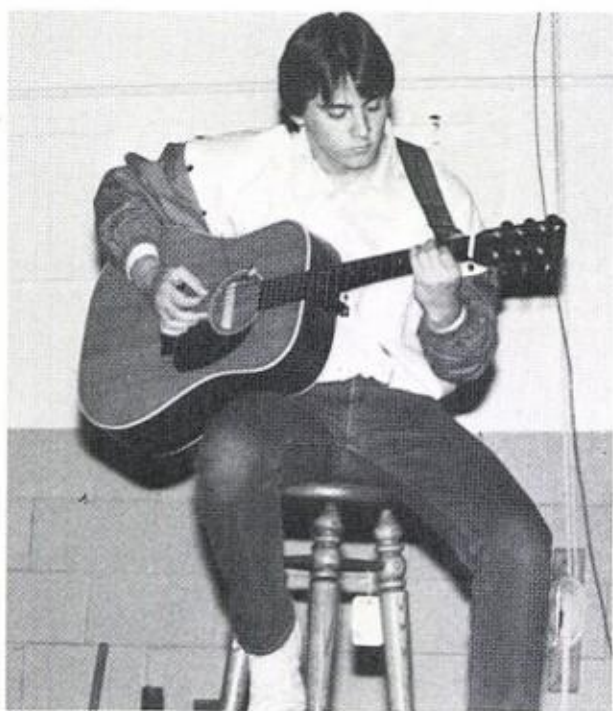

"Fame" was used as part of the finale. Mark Rowe, Renee Oleson, Jeff Revell, Bill Kallembach, Amy Wiggins, Michael Dick, Melissa Reidel, and Jamie Puckett simulate a dance audition.

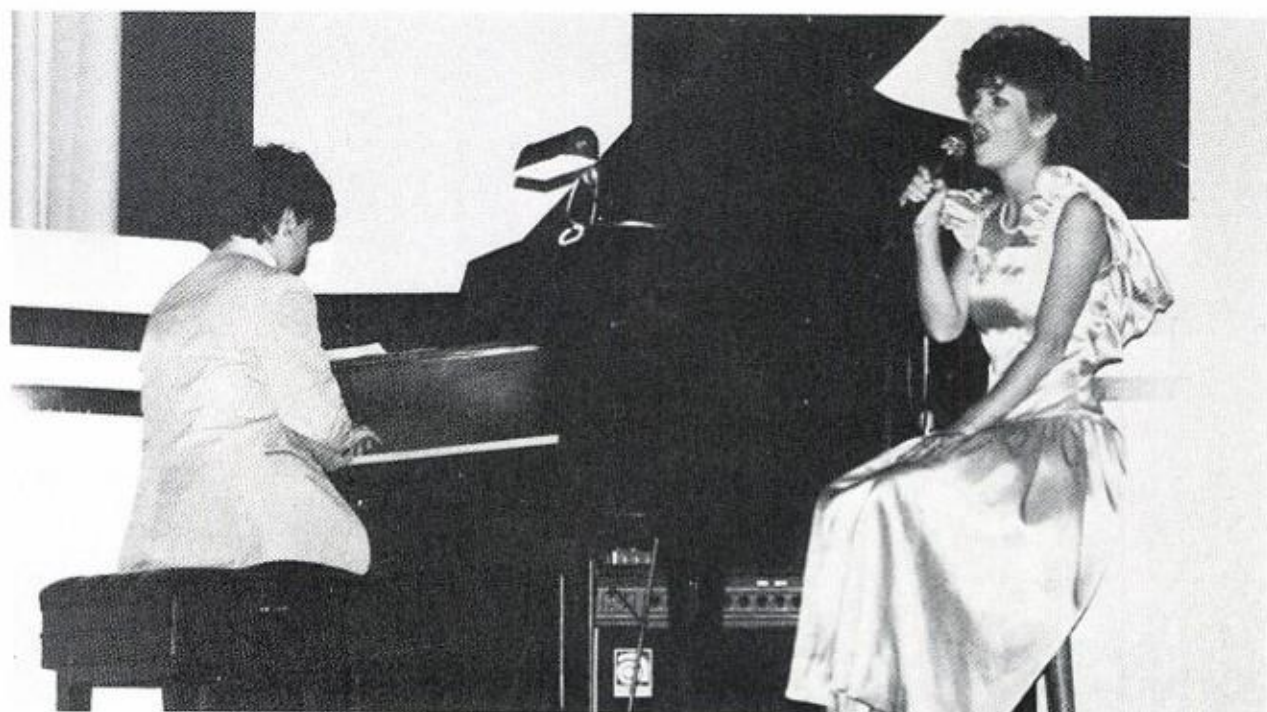

The senior girls' danceline boogied to "Old Time Rock and Roll."

Greg Liestman is beaten by masked men while Andy Heckman looks on.

Greg Cooper played a guitar solo which he composed.

Rosemarye Matheney sang a song which was composed by Jennifer Ross.

Morp-Down On The Farm

This year the theme for Morp was "Down On The Farm." Everyone enjoyed themselves and dressed in all types of farmer get-ups. This year's music was provided by Kyle Suhre. With his stereo system the students danced all night.

The dance, which started at 8:00 and ended at 11:00, featured a contest of the best dressed couples. Rhett Suhre and Kelly Brown won first place this year. Also, an air band contest added to the fun of Morp. W.A.S.P. took first place.

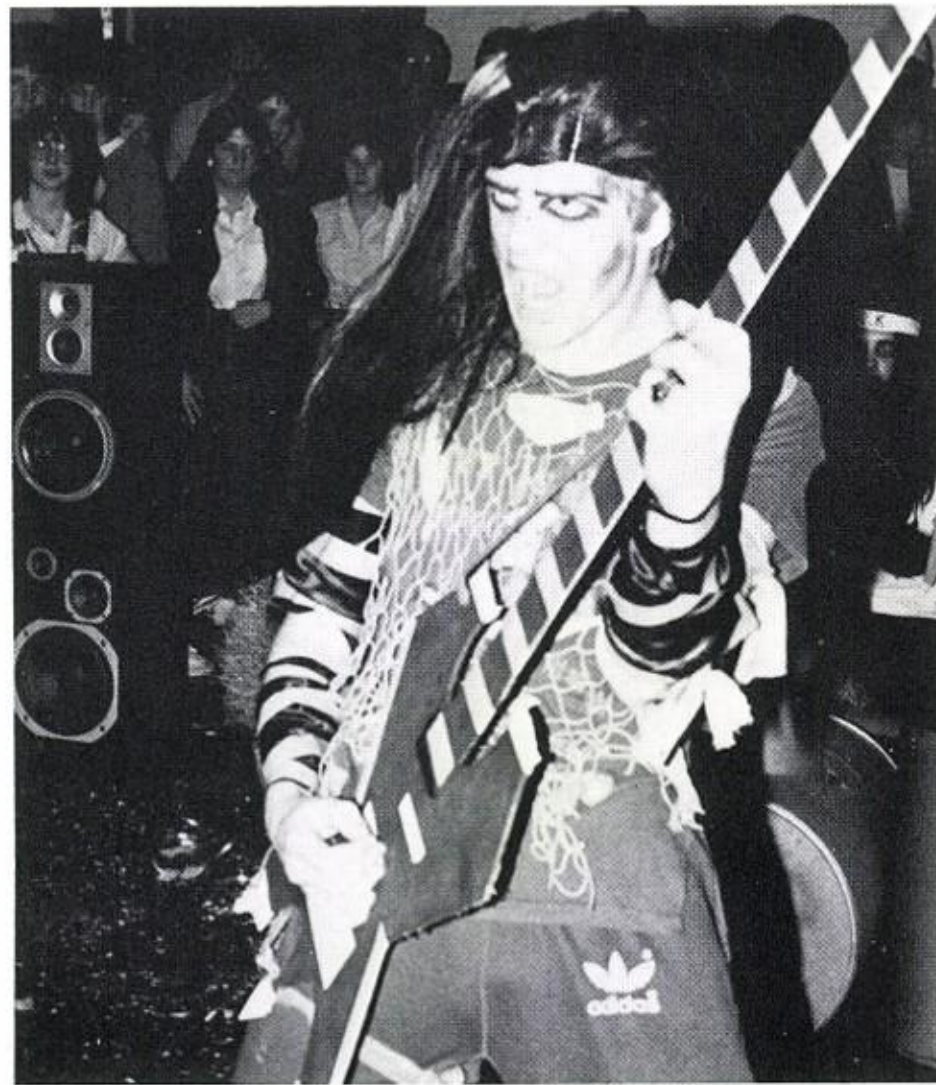

Morp, where the girl asks the guy, ended with many memories for everyone.

W.A.S.P.'s members include Bryan Gale, Chad Trimble, Rodney Bensyl, and Craig Wesley. Their air band placed first this year at Morp.

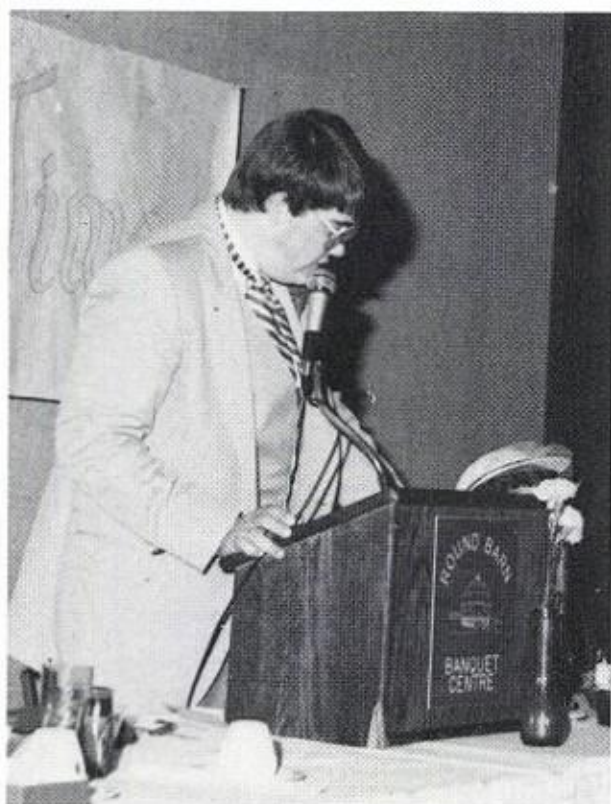

Doug Dalton mimics the music while he displays his techniques in dancing too. Students watch in the background.

Rodney Bensyl really gets into the music. He was a member of W.A.S.P. The air bands were an interesting addition to the activities that went on.

Prom Lasts Forever

Master of Ceremonies Andy Heckman used his comedic talent to enliven the night's festivities.

Prom, for most juniors and seniors in high school, is an evening filled with excitement and enjoyment that will provide memories that will last for years to come.

It's not just a night for a date or a night to stay out late. Prom night is the night for dreams and fantasies to become reality. This is the evening when the girls in their long dresses all become Cinderella at the ball and all the boys are the magic Prince Charming for a night.

For many of the seniors this is the last big social event of their high school careers and they enjoy it, but look forward to the end of the night as almost a 'beginning of the end' as graduation draws ever closer and the realization that the future is upon them becomes a somewhat scary thought.

But for one evening at least, everyone is together for one last good time and everyone is happy and carefree.

The girls are all beautiful and the boys are all handsome. It's almost like the entire world exists only for them this one special night and time almost seems to stand still.

Yes, the night will end and the coach will turn back into a pumpkin, but each and every person will keep their own precious glass slipper full of the lasting and magic moments that memories are made of because "Prom lasts forever."

Shauna Rice and Tom Boyle, a strikingly attractive couple, read the senior prophecies to a very attentive audience.

Seniors Rosemarye Matheney and Mark Shapland provided part of the evening's entertainment by humorously reading the 'Senior Wills.'

Jami White, accompanied by Greg Liestman on the piano, highlighted the entertainment portion of the night with a beautiful vocal solo.

Memories to be

Melissa Reidel, Lindsey Boman, and Jim Rogers all seem to be enchanted by the evenings festivities.

Rob Cooper and Kim Armstrong take a breather before entering the dance floor again. In the mean time they enjoy the break.

Sean Dalton and Rosemarye Matheney look picture perfect as they are caught by the camera. This year, Rosemarye won several Senior Bests.

Scott Williams, Joanna Brown, Renee Oleson, Bob Guido, and Frank Quinn and his date all enjoy a quiet moment together. They all put on their "Happy Faces" for the photographer.

Prom was a great success this year as the picture indicates. Everyone had a wonderful time and had several memories to savor forever.

Paula Schonert and Michael Dick certainly look like they are enjoying the evening as they prettily pose for this picture.

Treasured Forever

Maureen Harshbarger and Jeff Cavanaugh smile as they have a coke before returning to the dance floor. The night proved to be great.

John Whetstone and Amy Hicks move to the beat on the crowded floor. Dancing is one of the main attractions of the evening.

Tina Dozier, Larry Peake, Toni Clementz, and Jon Bargman seem to be having a nice time as they are surprised by the camera.

Craig Lins, Tamara Davis, and Mark Rowe exhibit their dancing abilities to the beat of the band at Prom.

Jodi Dean, Dayna Haines, Bill Bailey, and Jennifer Roberts really get down to the music at Prom.

Dawna Nelson was one of the vocalists this year at Prom. Her voice entertained everyone during a lull in the night's activities.

Graduation Brings

Although graduation marks the end of the high school experience for seniors, it also brings with it a chance for a new beginning. Students will now be going out into a much bigger world, either to enter the work force or to continue their education through a number of different alternatives.

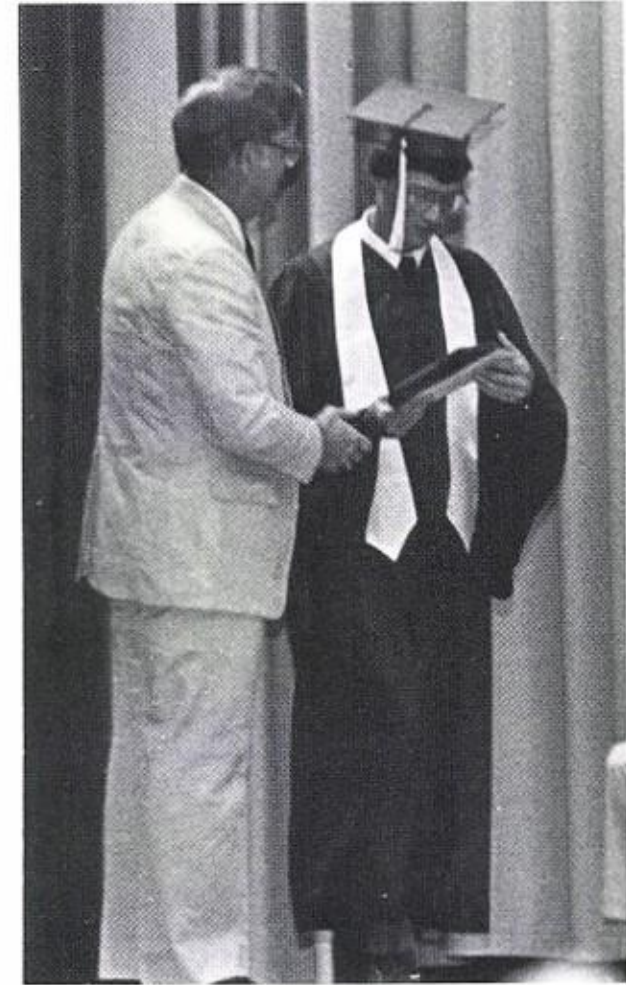

They will miss the good times and the bad times, not to mention the sad and the happy times, but they can now look forward to the challenges of a new beginning with the memories of the past to guide them.

Ronda Matthews receives a few last second arrangement assistance as she prepares to walk down the aisle towards graduation.

Last second preparations just prior to the graduation ceremonies are almost a tradition themselves. These nervous seniors try to get everything on and orderly a few minutes prior to graduation.

Don Hastings receives the Jim Valentine memorial award from Mr. Mitze during the ceremonies.

Amanda Valentine proudly receives her graduation diploma from Mr. Hubert Hickman, Unit 25 Board president.

A New Beginning

Wendy Myers walks confidently across the stage during the graduation ceremonies after having received one of the numerous scholarships given out each year to deserving students.

Denise Bright receives the traditional congratulatory hug from a fellow classmate.

Pam Chitwood and Denny Eades take the traditional stroll arm-in-arm down the aisle at the beginning of the graduation ceremonies.

Learning how to manage your money can be tougher than a final exam.

But it doesn't have to be. We'd like to help you manage your money now, as well as plan for the future. And to get you started, we'll give you a free checking account, 200 free checks plus an Easy Answer automatic teller banking card.

With the Easy Answer card, you'll have round-the-clock access to your account at the touch of a button, both here in Monticello and at other Easy Answer locations around the state.

National Bank of Monticello just made Money Management 101 a whole lot easier than that final exam.
